TO-DAY'S CLASSIC FOR THE SUBS.

NATIONAL DAY FAVOURED TO WIN SPORTS CLUB CUP

PORTIA'S BIG TASK IN SPRINT EVENT: RECORD MAY BE LOWERED

(BY "MORNING DEW")

Providing the weather keeps fine there should be a good day's sport at Happy Valley to-day, though on looking through the programme, it is to be feared that favourites will monopolise the day.

The main attraction of the card is of course the Sports Club Cup, the subs classic over a mile and a half. In view of his previous good performances, National Day is strongly fancied to win this event, but personally, I do not consider his chances in any way outstanding. That he has the best claim, we can deny, but a mile and a half has often found many ponies out, and unless National Day is an out and out champion, among the second lot of subs he may be a disappointment to-day.

Portia carries top weight in the Victoria Park Handicap over six furlongs where she will have to contend with two good sprinters in The Giraffe and Wotin. In spite of the weight, she should win.

DON NOW BACK IN "B" CLASS

Don will be racing to-day at top weight in the "B" Class and although he could do nothing in the "A" he is a very different proposition in the "B"; such is the gap between the two classes. Navy Hall has now been given 180 pounds and Don can, in my opinion, give him five pounds and a beating over five furlongs. The Tiger also has a good chance in the five furlongs event and after him, I should pick on Valorous and Weybridge. The presence of Don, however, robs the race of a good deal of interest.

Griffins Summer Handicap.

Wayward Stag has two good races to choose from to-day, one in the first event over a mile which he should be able to win, and the next in the second race over six furlongs which ought to suit him very well. On the whole he is more likely to start in the second race.

If Wayward Stag stays away from the first race, then Poker Face, Widnes and Spotted Butterly should make a good show of it between them. Poker Face at 154 pounds looks very good to me and after weighing up the chances, his seem to be the best, with Widnes next and Spotted Butterly next. Jungle Jim has to wrestle with 168 pounds and is not likely to cause much trouble but Mr. Soares' other candidate, Street Singer, at 148 pounds, has a sporting chance of getting placed.

Smugglers Handicap.

As stated, I fancy Wayward Stag's chances here and over six furlongs he should win. Mike and Dee are in this race, the former with 168 pounds and the latter with 165. Dee does not appeal at all but Mike is a different proposition although 168 pounds may prove an efficient stopper to his chances. Alexandra Hall at 150 pounds is a good each way bet, while California at 148 pounds might put up a surprise here, though the possibility of that is small.

An Open Race.

Opinion must differ as to the prospects of the various candidates in the third race. There is Warrington, but he has to carry 160 pounds. There is King's Parade, but his 168 pounds will not help him. Amoy is in the race, but he will have sufficient lead to carry. Double Face's 165 pounds does not inspire confidence among his supporters. After the top weights, Helter Skelter (145 pounds) looks to me the best thing on the list. He ran very well in Macao and is undoubtedly getting back to his old form. King Salmon is in at a comfortable weight (150 pounds) and is quite capable of upsetting calculations. A place seems certain. Valley Hall is one of those I should recommend as a long shot and Jungle is another to bear in mind; if you are willing to take a chance.

Subs Race.

In the fifth race, Now's The Time should have little difficulty in winning if he is sent to the post, but there is just a possibility that the pony may not be sent out here but in the mile and a half. The Panther over six furlongs is a tough proposition, and if Now's The Time is not started The Panther should win. Now's The Time or Aden look like good gets here and provided the odds are decent enough, punters might do worse than back these ponies. Bold General won handsomely over six furlongs in Macao and although I do not expect him to win to-day, it would be just as well for reader to bear his name in mind, especially if anyone is looking for "long shots."

Portia's Task.

In the Australian race over six furlongs, there seems to be just three ponies in it, Portia, The Giraffe and Wotin. The Giraffe and Wotin are capable of doing about 1.23, 6r possibly a little less. The record for this distance is 1.21.3, so it would seem that carrying 170 pounds, Portia will have to get very near record time, if she is going to win. On past performances Portia should win, and if the going is good, the record is due to be lowered.

Sports Club Cup.

National Day is sure to command most of the betting in this event, but his task is not such an easy one. De Minimis ran very well in the Sub-Griffins' Plate and is a distinct danger here. Melody is confidently expected to do well by his connections and Now's The Time, if he stays away from the earlier race, is not such a bad thing at all. Gay Butterfly disappointed a fortnight ago, but may redeem himself to-day. Vigilance, however, is the biggest danger to National Day and I should be surprised if he is not made second favourite.

Upset Likely.

If there is one race in which there is likelihood of a big dividend it is in the Fotaun Handicap over five furlongs. There are 25 entries and the race is over five furlongs. Anything might happen. Black Velvet is now down to 160 pounds and on his running in Macao, ought to be able to do well to-day. Gold Bridge also put up a splendid race in Macao and might do well here. Helvellyn had 163 pounds to carry, but that will not stop him from winning if the pony should show even a flash of his form of last season.

Novices Race.

The programme is very suitably wound up with a novices race. Orlando and Adam will have another chance to settle the question of who is better, the former carrying eight pounds more to-day than on his last appearance. In view of this Adam looks the better bet. Powerful King should be able to run into third place.

BRITISH IRON AND STEEL

REPORT FROM TEES DESTURT

Statistics recently issued give the total imports of iron and steel to the Tees for the five months ending March 31 at 3,141 tons, comprising 1,335 tons of pig-iron, 1,849 tons of crude sheet bars, billets, blooms and slabs; and 2,157 tons of plates, bars, angles, rails, sheets and joists. For the same months a year ago the unloadings reached 69,843 tons, comprising 4,566 tons of pig-iron; 60,772 tons of crude sheet bars, &c., and 4,305 tons of plates, bars, angles, &c.; while for the corresponding period of 1913-1914 the imports amounted to 31,294 tons, comprising 54 tons of pig-iron, 19,970 tons of crude sheet bars, &c., and 11,249 tons of plates, bars, angles, &c.

Continued steady recovery of trade is indicated by the official returns of iron and steel shipped from the Tees last month. Those of pig-iron was the largest for the past twelve months, chiefly due to a substantial increase in the deliveries to Scotland. Loadings of manufactured iron and steel for March were slightly heavier than the returns for February. Total shipments last month reached 31,868 tons, compared with 23,950 tons in February. Scotland was the largest receiver of pig-iron in March, taking 10,116 tons of the 15,463 tons shipped. Hong Kong, with an import of 201 tons, was the chief purchaser of the 1,555 tons of manufactured iron cleared last month. Of the 14,848 tons of steel loaded, the principal buyers were: Union of South Africa, 1,725 tons; Portuguese East Africa, 1,528 tons; and India, 1,470 tons—Engineering.

RECENT ENGINEERING CONTRACTS

EXAMPLES OF EVERY DAY APPLICATION

Some of the numerous applications of photo-electric cells are being demonstrated in a particularly effective manner in a special exhibit at the Science Museum, South Kensington, London, S.W.7. The development of the cells themselves is illustrated by exhibits of historical and modern types, and the applications are shown by means of working models or full-size apparatus. A buzzer sounds, for instance, when the visitor walks through a beam of infra-red rays, and a door opens ahead of him when he breaks a visible beam in passing through an open gateway. In this case the door is opened by means of one of the electro-hydraulic "Thrusters" made by Messrs. The British Thomson-Houston Company, Limited, Rugby. The Thruster is, of course, operated by a photo-electric cell through a relay.

Street Lamps.

The automatic lighting and extinguishing of street lamps and the lamps in a telephone kiosk is demonstrated by a model in which the effects of daylight and darkness are produced by electric lamps, controlled by a rheostat which the visitor can operate for himself. Another interesting exhibit is a model showing the counting of packages travelling on a band conveyor. In this case the packages pass through a beam of light which normally falls on to a photo-electric cell, and the current variation in the latter is made to operate a relay which, in turn, operates a counter of the cyclometer type. The use of photo-electric cells for daylight recording and for photometric work is illustrated by suitable apparatus, and their rather less obvious application for the measurement of irregular areas, such as animal skins, is shown by a model. In this, the skin is placed in front of a uniformly illuminated screen, so that it cuts off some of the light which normally falls on a photo-electric cell. The latter is connected to a galvanometer, the deflection of which, by previous calibration with known or easily calculable areas, can be made to read the irregular area directly.

Automatic Telephones.

One other piece of apparatus, which may be mentioned, in conclusion, is intended for use in connection with automatic telephone systems. As normally arranged, the fact that the wanted number is engaged or unobtainable is indicated by a periodic buzz and a continuous buzz, respectively, but with the apparatus exhibited, the calling subscriber hears the words "Number engaged," or "Number unobtainable," clearly spoken. For this purpose the speech waves are photographed on to a strip of transparent celluloid by a method similar to that employed in talking films. The celluloid strip is attached to the periphery of a metal disc and so arranged that a beam of light passes through the strip on to a photo-electric cell, which, in the demonstration apparatus, is connected through an amplifier to a loud speaker. When a called number is engaged or unobtainable the disc is automatically rotated, so that the appropriate portion of the sound record passes between the light source and the cell. Thus, the words are heard instead of the buzz, and any possibility of mistake is obviated. The exhibition was opened to the public on March 25, and will remain open for three months.—Engineering.

YELLOW RIVER CONSERVANCY WORK

Reclamation work at Wuyuan, within the Great Bend of the Yellow River in western Suiyuan, is progressing satisfactorily. Under the joint direction of the Provincial and military authorities, 120,000 mow of land are now under cultivation. The work is being carried on with soldier labour, two regiments of the 70th Division and one battalion of the 73rd Division being assigned to the task. A sum of $200,000 has so far been expended in the purchase of farming implements, cattle, etc.

FENGKIANG COLLIERIES

TO BE RE-OPENED.

Preparations are being made by the Kiangsi Provincial Government for the resumption of work in the collieries at Fengkiang, 10 miles west of Yukun on the southern shore of Paoyang Lake, northern Kiangsi. According to reports of foreign mining engineers, the Fengkiang colliery is estimated to contain 80 million tons of coal and with easy access from Nanchang, Kiukiang and Juichow could be operated at good profit. It is understood that the authorities are considering the construction of a light railway, dykes, and other works for the efficient exploitation of the mines.

An Investment in Health

the Westinghouse

Dual-automatic Refrigerator

Good health—this is the greatest treasure you can possess. And the most certain way you can retain this fortune for yourself and your family is to be sure that the foods you eat are fresh, wholesome and healthful. Improperly refrigerated foods may soon become tainted foods.

The Westinghouse Refrigerator is designed to keep perishable foods—like meat, vegetables and milk—at an ideal temperature to maintain their natural freshness and goodness. This is why we call the Westinghouse an "investment in health." It keeps you and your family healthy by keeping the foods you eat healthful. Your foods will not only be better for you, but they will taste better—fresh and full-flavoured. And think of the convenience of the Westinghouse—delightful ices and frozen salads prepared easily—a large storage space for chilling bottled beverages, and lots of ice cubes for your favourite drinks—plus the assurance that your Westinghouse will give long years of trouble-free, satisfying service.

TO HARNESS THE SEVERN

BIG BRITISH PROJECT

For many years suggestions have been made that the waters of the river Severn should be harnessed and exploited, and seven years ago a Severn Barrage Committee of the English Economic Advisory Council was appointed to enquire into the practicability of the proposals made. The water power would be used for the generation of electricity, and since the development of the National Electricity Board's "Grid" system the scheme has a more favourable chance of success.

The Committee therefore put forward a plan for a barrage power station to generate 2,207 million units of electricity. Owing to the action of the tides, the power would vary and be intermittent, and a secondary "storage" scheme was also proposed. The energy necessary to pump water to the reservoir in the secondary scheme would reduce the actual output to 1,641 million units. Tests have been made and the Committee are satisfied that navigation would not be hampered seriously either above or below the barrage, and the effect of inundations which now take place in the upper estuary would be greatly reduced. The social value of the scheme would be considerable. It would take fifteen years to complete the work; the number of men employed rising from 2,000 in the first year to 27,000 in the thirteenth year. The cost of the actual power station, reservoir and transmission lines would be £23,426,475; but in addition it is proposed to make a road and a railway bridge over the river and to build additional dock accommodation involving a further expenditure of about £19,000,000.

MACAO HARBOUR WORKS

SCHEME TO TAKE VESSELS UP TO 25 FEET DRAUGHT

Macao lies west of the estuary of the River Si-kiang, ninety miles south of Canton; and to overcome the silting up of the harbour of the Portuguese Colony, caused by the accumulation of alluvium brought down by the Si-kiang River to its delta, the Portuguese Government have undertaken extensive developments. These, nearly completed, are estimated to cost about $10,000,000 and will give this beautiful colony a modern port and harbour.

Many sections of the work have already been concluded; these are situated in the Inner Harbour at the North of Macao. This part of the work was done by the Government itself. As evidence of the need for suitable building areas in Macao, much of this reclaimed land in the north western portions of the territory is already occupied by lumber-yards, dry-dockyards for the building and repairing of junks, machine shops, and several factories for brick making, for cracker manufacture, etc., while applications come in from time to time.

The Outer Harbour is already open to ocean going and coasting steamers. The plans for this portion of the work were drawn up by distinguished Portuguese engineers, ideas being adapted from some of the best ports of the world. The work of construction was allocated to the Netherlands Harbour Works Company, following public tender, in which two British, one American and two Dutch firms were bidding.

The construction of the harbour was started about April, 1923. Before this date, however, a good deal of preliminary work was necessary; and installations and equipment had to be laid down after the first surveys were completed.

The Dutch Company by agreement with the Government, undertook the construction of a large part of this scheme, and the Harbour of Macao is already open to ocean traffic, and later works will permit of the entrance of vessels drawing up to 25 feet.

One of the features of the work is two strongly built breakwaters constructed specially to withstand the force of typhoons, and providing good shelter for ships. In 1923, when a very violent typhoon struck Macao, the breakwater, already in course of construction,

PORTUGAL AND FRANCE

COMMERCIAL AGREEMENT RENOUNCED

According to dispatches from Lisbon, the Portuguese Government on May 2, renounced the commercial agreement with France, signed on June 12, 1932. The Portuguese Minister in Paris was instructed to communicate with the French Government conveying the decision of the Lisbon Government to that effect.

The Press supports the government and it is expected that the French Government will revoke their decision which caused the breach of commercial relations.

The decision of the Lisbon Government has caused great feeling, especially in the Douro region where Port Wine is produced.

Owing to the energetic attitude of the Portuguese Government, in view of the French discrimination against Portuguese wines, it is anticipated the French will reconsider their decision since the trade yearly balance between the two countries is favourable to France.

firmly withstood the violent fury of the waves. Thus a protected anchorage has been provided and the mud in the area enclosed has been dredged away. Access to the new harbour is made through a channel running out to the Roadstead, while within the harbour good berthing accommodation and storage facilities have been promised.

Another feature of the Harbour Works is that the mud dredged from the harbour-bed is being most economically utilized. It is used for extensive reclamations, and the total area of all the reclamations represent, approximately, one half the area of Macao. The land of this reclaimed territory, put up for lease from the Government after certain reservations for public thoroughfares and recreation grounds, at reasonable selling price, will cover all the expenses incurred in the construction of the harbour.

The local Government has spared no effort to develop and protect its share of the commerce and industry of South China. For this reason reclamations in the territory contemplated besides the area already reclaimed, increasing, whereby the possibilities of the development of commerce in Macao and in the two neighbouring Portuguese islands of Taipa and Colowan.

MACAO'S COMMERCE AND ENTERPRISE

A BUSINESS REVIVAL

Macao has, within recent years, enjoyed much progress in trade, and many new enterprises have developed. In certain lines of business a few firms have thriven particularly well, and there is a feeling that with the successful establishment of the new Port even better trade will result. There are always opportunities for enterprising merchants.

But few commercial establishments in Macao can claim any great age and this is surprising in view of the length of time which the Portuguese have possessed Macao. All the old firms have passed out of existence. Notable exceptions are the firm of Messrs. N. T. Fernandes & Sons, printers and publishers, founded in 1835, and A. A. de Mello, established in 1840, shipping merchants and commission agents.

Fresh commercial opportunities arise almost daily and there are fortunes still to be made in this distant outpost of Portugal's far-flung territory.

In the stirring days at the beginning of the Eighteenth Century, there were many prosperous foreign commercial establishments, with enormous buildings that served as offices, principal amongst which were the British East India Company, the Dutch East India Company, Dent & Co., Russell & Co. (an American concern). All of the concerns named have gone the way of human enterprise, but they left their stamp on the foreign trade of China, and many of them contributed in no small measure towards the establishment of Hong Kong, in the development of which, newer and more energetic firms have displaced the old merchants.

Macao, in like manner, has suffered from the competition of younger rivals, but after a long period of backwardness awakes, in hopeful anticipation of the business revival that is ushering in the commercial renaissance of old Macao.

MACAO'S NEW HARBOUR MASTER

LT.-COMDR. A. L. CARMONA

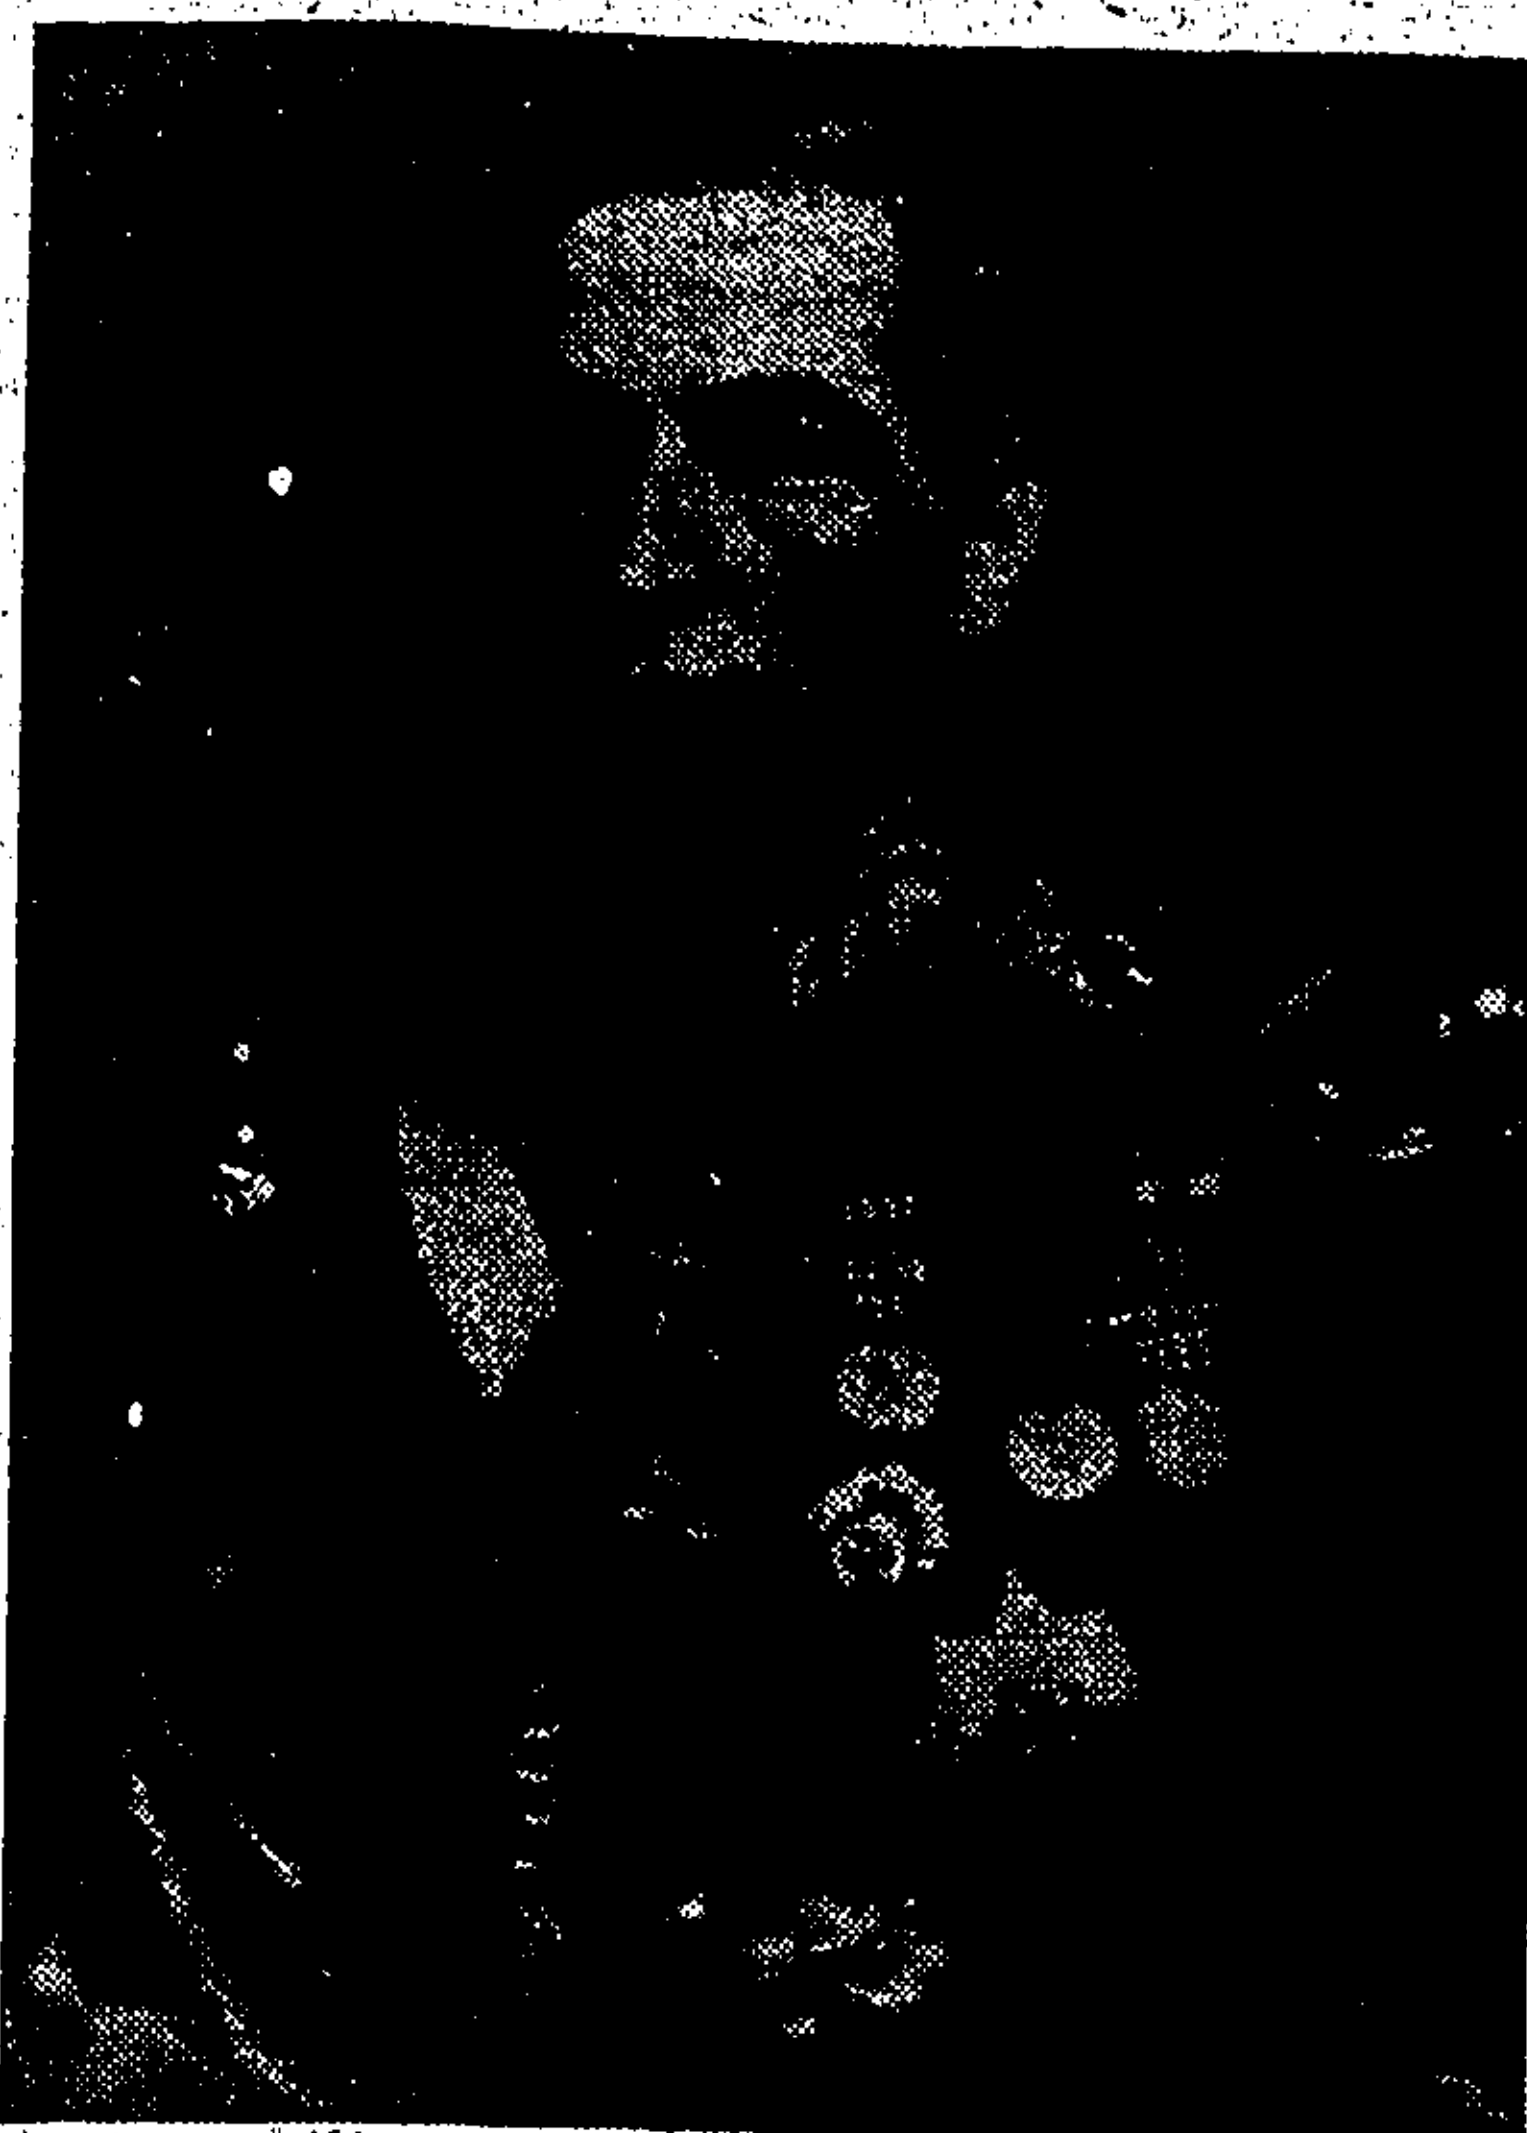

News have just been received from Lisbon that Lieut. Commander Arthur Leonel Carmona who is well-known amongst the Portuguese Community in the Far East, has been transferred from his post of A.D.C. to General Carmona, President of the Portuguese Republic, to the new post to which he has been recently appointed, as Harbour Master in Macao.

FRENCH AUTHOR EULOGIZES PORTUGUESE

The French journalist and explorer, Robert Chauvelot, who accompanied the French trans-African mission organized by the Portuguese Colonial Office is writing a number of important articles for "L'Illustration" depicting the most interesting phases of the mission and eulogizing the vast work of Portuguese colonization in Africa.

H.E. THE GOVERNOR OF MACAO

LIEUT. COL. ANTONIO JOSE BERNARDES DE MIRANDA

The Governor of Macao, a most distinguished Artillery Officer attached to the Staff Headquarters. He served in the Great War when his name was specially mentioned in dispatches by the General-in-Chief of the Portuguese Army operating in France. He is the Chief of Staff of the 2nd Military District of Portugal. He accompanied Marshal Gomes da Costa on the occasion of the movement for the institution of the present dictatorship regime in Portugal and was Chief of Staff at the War Office when H.E. President Carmona was Minister of War. He was Adjutant to H.E. President Carmona when the latter was elected President of the Republic.

Governor Miranda is a well-known mathematician being an frequent contributor to the "Artillery Review" of Portugal where he has published most interesting studies concerning military matters, and original dissertations about the theory of the Universe.

He has rendered vast services to his country and has been awarded the highest national honours and military distinctions and the Spanish Government has given him the medal of "Military Merit."

His activity as Governor of Macao has been specially concentrated in the vital and economical problems of the Colony and has been beneficially felt in its economical development.

He proceeded home early in April accompanied by the Director of Finance Services of Macao and by his A.D.C. to attend the Imperial Conference called by the Premier Dr. Oliveira Salazar and the Minister for the Colonies, Dr. Armindo Monteiro, when important decisions will be taken concerning the most vital problems of Macao.

H.E. THE ACTING GOVERNOR

Dr. Pedro da Rocha Santos.

A.D.C. TO GOVERNOR MIRANDA

Marquis de Ficalho.

THE ACTING GOVERNOR

EXTREMELY POPULAR IN MACAO

Dr. Pedro da Rocha Santos, Acting Governor of Macao was graduated at Coimbra University where he obtained his degree of Doctor of Medicine and Surgery. He has been an Assistant of the Coimbra Maternity where he rendered such valuable professional services that he was generally respected and appreciated by all colleagues in the medical profession. His personal qualities and professional ability were specially felt amongst the poorer classes to whom he has always rendered the most generous and kind attention and by whom he is extremely beloved.

He initiated his colonial career in Macao by accompanying H.E. Governor Miranda as Private Secretary and Chief of the Private Office at H.E.'s special request, based on a long period of mutual co-operation and esteem.

H.E. Governor Miranda, before leaving for Portugal, in acknowledgment of Dr. Santos' exceptional abilities in the performance of his special duties in the Colony, appointed him with full sanction of the Colonial Office, Acting Governor of Macao, pending H.E.'s return to the Colony, after the Imperial Conference.

MARQUIS DE FICALHO

A.D.C. TO GOVERNOR MIRANDA

F. de Mello Costa, Marquis de Ficalho, Lieutenant in the Artillery and Barrister-at-law by Coimbra University, A.D.C. and Private Secretary to H.E. the Acting Governor of Macao, descends from the noblest Portuguese families.

Called to the Army he served in France during the Great War for two years and was mentioned in dispatches for bravery. After the war he was appointed A.D.C. to the General Commanding the 1st Military District of Portugal and was sent to France on special missions.

Of a genial and kind disposition he has made quite a host of friends in the Colony.

Dr. Rocha Santos during the short course of one year in Macao has created a wide range of friends and his personal and professional qualities have again contributed towards a general and kind appreciation of his personality. He is continuing Governor Miranda's policy of fostering the economical development of the Colony which is believed will be of great benefit to some important branches of the Colony.

CLARA BOW

Synops.s of Preceding Chapters.

Nasa Springer is brought by her wealthy parents from Texas to marry Charley Moffat a rich Chicagoan. On her engagement night she runs off with Larry Crosby. He deserts her on her wedding night for his mistress Sunny De Lan. Later, he begs her to visit him in New Orleans where he is ill. He attacks her and she runs him and escapes. Refusing his money she attempts to support their child. Penniless in the slums, she goes out to sell herself for medicine for the baby. The child is killed in a fire. Moonglow, her Indian sweetheart from Texas, brings her word she has inherited her grandfather's money. Jay Randall, a New York wealthy youth asks her hand. At a dinner given by his father, she hears Sunny De Lan and Crosby announced.

Chapter VI.

A Cynical smile curled Cyrus Randall's lips as the hard blonde Sunny De Lan and the rakish Crosby swaggered in, he hastened to make the introductions.

"Mrs Crosby may I—"

"We've met," Nasa broke in eyeing Sunny dangerously and then glancing at Larry. "Even Mr. Crosby's face is familiar. Weren't we married or something?"

"My former sparring partner," Crosby chuckled.

Sunny advanced on Jay and fingered his coat lapels. "I'm one of your most ardent fans," she gushed. "I even cut your picture out of Vanity Fair. I stuck it on the mirror in my bedroom. A woman can't show more loyalty than that to her hero."

"Dinner is served," announced the butler.

As she went in with Crosby, Nasa said, "I don't know what this is all about. I know it's a trick. But don't you start anything you don't want finished."

They entered the dining room a stately procession. Half an hour later a group of casualties emerged. Sunny De Lan was nursing a discolored eye. A servant was wiping a huge splash of soft food and gravy off Crosby's shirt front. In a corner of the living room Jay confronted Nasa.

"You might have controlled your temper, at least for my sake."

"No one can speak disrespectfully of my dead baby," she gritted, "least of all his own father."

"They were egging you on," Jay asserted. "Couldn't you realize that? Dad brought them here for that. And," he went on definitely, "I regret what happened."

Like a flash she dealt him a stinging slap in the face.

"You savages," he almost spat at her, turned and left the room.

That word "savages" was still ringing in her ears, when she came to her hotel desk for her key. The clerk gave her a telegram. She opened it and read:

Your mother not expected to live. Asking for you. Please come.

Moonglow

Ruth Springer had seen the sun set for the last time. She was dying in the Texas dusk, her beautiful body, that had intoxicated Ronasa was wasted and withered by age and sickness. Pete and the doctor were beside her bed, when Nasa rushed in and weeping clasped her mother in her arms.

Ruth's eyes took on a new intensity. Her cracked lips tried to form some word.

"What is it, mother," cried Nasa. "Something about me? What? Can't you speak? Try darling, try!"

"You—the dying lips framed. Then "Ronasa," gasped Ruth, half rising from her bed, "Ronasa!"

The rattle in her throat cut off speech. She fell back—dead.

Ronasa's name had awakened doubts that had always affected Nasa. It had aroused thoughts forgotten for decades in Pete's mind also. He had often wondered at the strange intensity of his late and affection for Nasa. But he never had other considerations more urgent to occupy him.

CLARA BOW CALL HER SAVAGE

From the novel by Tiffany Thayer Directed by John Francis Dillon FOX PICTURE

"HOT PEPPER" WITH LUPE VELEZ
MEXICAN STAR'S FIRST VISIT TO HOLLYWOOD

Lupe Velez, whose performance in the Fox picture, "Hot Pepper," includes a sinuous dance in the elaborate Montmartre cafe scene, made her first appearance as a dancer in Mexico City. She was fifteen years old when she got her first job in "Rataplan," a musical comedy. When Mrs. Frank A. Woodard of Hollywood saw her she suggested to Richard Bennett that he give the little Mexican the name part in "The Dove" for which he was casting.

Bennett sent for Miss Velez and she went to Hollywood full of hope. But Bennett, while much impressed with her, decided she was too young and inexperienced.

Her visit to the film centre, however, was not without results, for she was engaged as a solo dancer in the Hollywood Music Box Revue and when Hal Roach saw her he signed her to a contract. Lupe appeared in several comedies and was finally loaned to Douglas Fairbanks for a role in "The Gaucho."

In this she was a sensation. Her success led to a contract with United Artists and her rise to stardom was almost without precedent. Among the pictures in which she scored are "Stand and Deliver," "Where East is East," "Tiger Rose," "The Wolf Song," "The Squaw Man," "Cuban Love Song," "The Storm," "Men in Her Life," "The Broken Wings."

"YES, MR. BROWN"

"Yes, Mr. Brown" is laughable entertainment. Jack Buchanan sings, dances and fumes his way through the funny situations being very ably assisted by Elsie Randolph, who has been his stage partner on many occasions. Hartley Power is good, and Margot Graham is the fascinating film wife of Jack. "Yes, Mr. Brown" will be shown at the Central Theatre on Sunday.

and "The Half-Naked Truth"

Lupe has also appeared in several Spanish productions, among others being "Resurrection," in which she also appeared opposite John Biles when the picture was made in English.

Miss Velez has a clear olive skin, black hair and dark eyes. She is five feet, five inches tall and weighs 115 pounds.

She has a decided sense of humour and frankness is one of her most refreshing charms.

She is fond of outdoor sports and loves a prize-fight. Bull fighting, the national sport of Mexico, does not interest her. She describes it as brutal.

Miss Velez lives with her mother and her sister, and her hobby is making rigs.

"Hot Pepper," which opens today at the King's Theatre, depicts the most recent exploits of the rollicking Marines, Flagg and Quirt, portrayed by Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe. They appear as rival cafe owners and fight over women. "Pepper," enacted by Miss Velez, being the chief object of their struggles.

"LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE"
EXCELLENT FILM FROM FAMOUR COMIC STRIP

Cartoon comedy strips have inspired several noteworthy motion pictures.

Bud Fisher's "Mutt and Jeff" were early cartoon favourites to reach the screen. "Ella Cinders" furnished Colleen Moore with one of her best characters. "Audy Gump," "Jiggs and Maggie," "Mickey Mouse," the Skipper of "The Toonerville Trolley," Walt of "Gasoline Alley" have short comedies or longer features.

One of the most successful as a screen actor was Percy Crosby's Skipper, brought to life by Jackie Cooper in the motion picture of the same name.

Now Skipper's girlhood prototype, "Little Orphan Annie," is on the screen, played by the most Mitzi Green.

"Little Orphan Annie," as a RKO-Radio Pictures, is now at the Central Theatre featuring May Robson and Mitzi. Critics have pronounced the picture one of the famous child actresses of that time, most moving portraits of childhood ever conceived a comedy drama of universal appeal aimed directly for the adult mind and for the younger audience as well.

Suits that look well—wet or dry

Some suits are fine for parading the sands in—but oh, how they look when wet—loose and floppy about the legs—the last word in discomfort.

That is not the kind of sea suit we commend. You need a suit that fits—thus you avoid that awful after-bathing inelegance. Let us show you how comfort is achieved at modest cost in bathing suits.

ST. JOHN'S REVIEW

THE MAY NUMBER

The new editor of St. John's Review, Mr. Maurice Barton deserves every congratulation upon the May number. All the church and other "Official" notices are set out in clear and businesslike fashion, while there are in addition to a number of carefully selected articles of a religious nature, others of general interest notably Mr. A.
S. Abbott's "Impressions of Java."
The Bishop's address to Canton
Rotarians is in typical vein.
Thought provoking, fresh and original.

The Review is worth its price if only for the delightful cartoon of
"The Two Mules."
"The Why and Wherefore" is a little startling in its manner of answering questions from a seriousminded layman. It pre-supposes two things, a sense of humour, and some previous effort to find out the answers to the queries put forward.
An appeal is made for more help
for the choir.

"At this time of year we are finding gaps in the office and in our social circles, the main reasons being home leave and the departure of the fleet for the North. This is also true of the Cathedral Choir and we are shortly to lose several choir men for these reasons.
Mr. Mason would welcome applications from any men interested in choir singing. The more the merrier." This is certainly true of a Church Choir both from their own point of view and that of the congregation.

OUR SCOTTISH AIR-MAIL LETTER

Death of Col. G. A. Malcolm of London Scottish :
Slump in Scottish Auto Insurance: Mitchell
Library and the Burns Collection:
Princess Royal and the Royal

(Special Air-Mail Service)

MAN WHO LED LONDON-SCOTTISH

Glasgow, Apr. 28.
Col. George Alexander Malcolm,
D.S.O., the "father" of the London Scottish, has died at his residence at Kingston-hill, Surrey, after a short illness, in his 62 year.

Col. Malcolm took the first battalion of the London Scottish to France in September, 1914, and commanded them at the battle of Messines Ridge on Halloween night, Oct. 31, when they drove the Germans back at the point of the bayonet. It was the first time Territorial had gone into action in the war.

During the entire engagement
Col. Malcolm took an active part in the fighting, and when a new position had to be taken he personally led his men to the attack.

Lord French sent Col. Malcolm a telegram saying: "I wish you and your splendid regiment to accept my warmest congratulations and thanks for the fine work you did on Saturday. You have given a glorious lead and example to all Territorial corps fighting in France."

Col. Malcolm also commanded the battalion during the heavy fighting in the first battle of Ypres, and remained in the front line until December, 1914, when he was invalided home.

In 1917 he was appointed Assistant Director of Labour, and had control of all labour battalion troops, numbering more than 200,000, working at the ports in Northern France.

His family came originally from the Dundee district, but nearly all his life had been spent in London, where he was senior partner of the firm of W. F. Malcolm and Co.
flax, hemp, and jute merchants.

The funeral service was at St.
Mary's Church, Wimbledon.

SCOTTISH SHARE SENSATION

After a long spell of freedom from unpleasant sensations markets were thrown into a perturbed state yesterday by a perpendicular decline in the shares of the Scottish Automobile and General Insurance Company.

These shares were selling early in the present year at 36s, and before the market closed for the Easter holiday the price had receded to 27s. 6d.

Yesterday the quotation slumped
again to 15s, at which figure sellers were offering after hours.

The shares of the offshoot concern Automotor Finance Ltd.—came back in sympathy also to 15s. This price compares with 21s last week and 28s earlier in the present year.

Since Scottish Automobile and General Insurance have been paying dividends of 17½ per cent. regularly for many years past the slump in the shares has quite naturally caused a good deal of comment.

"It is generally expected that, in view of the heavy slump in the price of the company's shares, an early statement will be issued by the board."

BURNS AND THE MITCHELL LIBRARY

By the completion of a new catalogue of its "Burns Collection," the Mitchell Library has provided what has long been a desideratum of students of the poet's life and writings. The literature that has gathered round Burns's name since the publication in 1786
of his "Poems chiefly in the Scottish Dialect" is enormous. Several bibliographies of that literature have been printed, and have been helpful to collectors and to students; but nothing is the nature of a "class-guide" to the many books which, wholly or in part, deal with Burns's career and achievement has ever been published. The need of such a guide is apparent
when it is remembered that the printed books and pamphlets classified as "Burnsiana" number approximately three thousand.

A Classified Catalogue.

Commenced fifty years ago, the Mitchell Library's "Burns Collection" is probably now the largest in existence, and is consulted by students and writers from far and near. Its contents have recently been rearranged and recatalogued:
the editions of the poet's writings
according to place of publication,
the "ana" in 24 sections (e.g.,
biography, criticism, dialect, illustrations, music, and religion—the prints in which being listed alphabetically. Full indexes facilitate reference to the new catalogue, which at present is typewritten in folio volumes for the use of readers at the Library. But it is the hope of the committee that, when times are more propitious, the catalogue may be reproduced in print, so that its classified lists may be available to anyone at home or abroad who proposes to make a study of any aspect of the national poet.

PRINCESS ROYAL AND THE SCOTS

When the King and Queen drove away from Talavera Barracks, the Princess Royal, who is Colonel-in-Chief of the Royal Scots, remained with her regiment. She lunched with the officers in mess and afterwards attended the garden party on the officers' lawn given to the wives and families of all ranks of the regiment.

In the afternoon the Queen inspected the Louise Margaret Hospital for officers' wives, and with the King was present at the football ground to see the replay of the Army Cup final between the Cameron Highlanders and the Rifle Brigade. The members of the teams were presented to the King.

CAMERONS WIN ARMY CUP

The Match was between The 2nd Battalion, The Queen's Own
Cameron Highlanders (Aldershot),
and the 2nd Battalion, The Rifle Brigade (Devonport), who had played a drawn game, after extra time, on the Command Central Ground at Aldershot on Monday, April 17, in the final round of the Army Challenge Cup, met again the following Wednesday. After extra time, The Cameron Highlanders won by three goals to two.

THE NEW OFFICIAL REFEREE

Mr. C. M. Pitman, K.C., whose appointment as Official Referee of the Supreme Court has just been announced, is a brother of Lord Pitman, who is a judge of the Scottish Court of Session.

The Pitman family has a distinguished legal record in Scotland, and the promotion of a member to the prominent English law appointment recalls the old rhyme which gives point to the exclusiveness of legal Edinburgh. (It should be explained that Todd, Murray and Jamieson is a famous Edinburgh law firm.)

Todd, Murray and Jamieson, Jamieson, Murray and Todd.
The Blackburns speak to the Pitmans.

And the Pitmans speak to God.

A Legal Bird.

On April 22 a distinguished Scottish lawyer was in London. He dined in his club, and after dinner was introduced to a beaming
young Sassenach.

"What, may I ask, is your profession, sir?" said the Sassenach,
rather patronisingly.

The lawyer drew himself up
proudly, "I am a writer to his Majesty's Signet."

"Ah!" said the Englishman, visibly impressed. "And does the bird ever reply?"

The answer is that, since the transfer of so many head offices of Scottish businesses to London, he does not.

CHINESE CHRISTIANS IN CONFERENCE

AT SUNKIANG NEAR SHANGHAI
IN MAY 1933

THE NATIONAL CRISIS AND RURAL RECONSTRUCTION

(BY THE BISHOP OF VICTORIA)

"The Japanese Christian Council sends fraternal greetings to the Chinese Christian Council and joins them in prayer to God that peace may be soon restored between our two countries."

In a terrible stillness this telegram was read out first in Chinese and then in English by the Chinese Christian Educator during the Biennial Conference of the National Christian Council of China. Then as was fitting, "Let us stand in silent prayer" and after the silence "Will the Revd. K. C. Bau and Dr. Hsu Ban Chen lead us in prayer?" Mr. Bau was chairman of the group endeavouring to draft a message of counsel and encouragement to the Christians especially in North China and Manchuria.

Dr. Hsu Ban Chen had made an impassioned appeal for complete pacifism and offered himself to go and live in Japan as unofficial liaison officer between the Christians of the two countries. As the coastal steamer on which Dr. Hsu had travelled to the conference had been wrecked and then pirated, and he had lost all his possessions, including manuscripts representing many weeks of work, this experience seemed to have given him a deeper serenity than all of us. The general opinion of the conference preferred individual vocation, to a general rule of conduct for all Christians, but recognised gladly that Dr. Hsu's vocation was certainly the purer course that had been shewn to him.

Two representatives had come from the Church in Manchuria, and were the focus of much interest. As was perhaps expected, they brought news of spiritual revival in the Church, but of a greatly increased confusion in the country districts.

Rural Reconstruction.

After "the National Crisis" the question of Rural Reconstruction was paramount in the conference. The work begun by Dr. James Yen for the coolies in France blossomed some eight years ago into "The Thousand Character Movement" for popular education in minimum standard of literacy. In the last two years this movement has become something with the significance and power of Father Jellinek's Housing Work in Somers Town, England. In a whole Haïen (practically an English village) in North Shan-tung a team of men, many of them not professing Christians, are living in Franciscan style redeeming the countryside from poverty and ignorance. Dr. James Yen is still the leader. He has, he claims, only one sermon "The Word was made flesh." God could only save the world by living among men, so the Christian Church can only save rural China by a similar incarnation in the fabric of village life.

At Easter time the National Christian Council had organised an "institute" for Christian leaders all over China interested in this experiment. They had prepared for 80 members, and finally accepted and packed in 180.

The unconscious effect of non-Roman Missionary work in the last fifty years has been to drain the best life of the village into the town. The bright boy in the village school has gone on to the more advanced school in the nearest city; and the brightest boys from those schools have gone on to the universities in the great metropolitan centres. Very few have returned to the district of their birth.

Russia is sending some of her best university material back into the country. The Christian Church in China means to do no less. The doctrine they take will not be "communism" but "co-operation."

Groups.

A pastor from Shanghai whose whole life was changed under the influence of the Group Movement some years ago addressed the conference, and so with less eloquence but bringing more conviction did Bishop Roots, whose son has taken such a prominent part in the movement. Two English names interrupted the Chinese pastor's Mandarin—"Sam, Shoemaker" and then a little later "Edward Hill." The inner circle of Group Movement leaders is very small, which makes their achievement perhaps all the more remarkable. If the Chinese Church is to be helped by this new technique in personal surrender, it will not be by discussions at conferences but by men and women in twos and threes intimate and close enough to be each others' Father-confessors. As I listened to the exposition of the movement I realised how much the non-Roman Church in general has lost through its abhorrence of auricular confession; and how much the more rigid Catholic system loses in that its priesthood of the laity is so much less spontaneous and therefore much less effective than in the Group Movement.

Personalities.

As the veteran Dr. Cheng Ching Yi is still very strictly under doctor's orders, the chairmanship of the conference was shared by three others—Dr. C. P. Wang, Methodist Episcopal Bishop of an area stretching from Peiping and Tientsin to far Chengtu; Dr. Wu Ying Fang, Headmistress of Gling Girls' School at Nanking (in a way an inferior chairman for being a chairwoman); and Dr. R. Y. Lo who is a member now of the Legislative Yuan at Nanking. The Ministry of Word and Sacraments, the Ministry of Teaching, and the Ministry of National Government were therefore all represented. This is truly a symbolic picture of the influence of the Christian Church in China.

VOLUNTEER PRIZES

Presented Last Night by
Brigadier Cousins

ENJOYABLE EVENING AT HEADQUARTERS

A gathering of over two hundred sat down to a very enjoyable "steak and kidney" dinner at Volunteer Headquarters last night, after which prizes for musketry, machine gun and rifle shooting were distributed by Brigadier R. B. Cousins, D.S.O.

The competitions for these prizes were held on April 15 and 16 at Stonecutters.

Col. L. G. Bird, most of the officers of the Corps and quite a number of guests, were present at the function.

Following the prize distribution musical and humorous items were rendered by Messrs. Ronnie True, John Rymm, V. C. Lebrum and C. de S. Robertson. Needless to say their efforts were much appreciated by all, especially the delightfully witty entertainment provided by Mr. Robertson.

THE PRIZE-WINNERS

The prizes distributed were as follows:

Nathan Cup for Efficiency—Motor Machine Gun Section.

Commandant's Cup for Musketry—Engineer Co.

MacDonald Trophy for Machine Gun Firing—Anzac Co.

Blake Shield—Machine Gun Co. (D Team)—C.Q.M.S. Grenham, Corpl. Woodman, L/Sgt. Holmes, Pte. Simpson.

Francis Cup—C.Q.M.S. Grenham, Corpl. Woodman, L/Sgt. Holmes, Pte. Simpson.

Tile Competition—C. J. M. S. Grenham, Corpl. Woodman, L/Sgt. Holmes, Pte. Simpson.

Attack Competition—C. J. M. S. Grenham, Corpl. Woodman, L/Sgt. Holmes, Pte. Simpson.

Corps Championship—1st Pte. Rochea (Portuguese Co.), 2nd Pte. Simpson (Machine Gun Co.), 3rd Sgt. Salter (Engineer Co.).

Officers' Prize—Capt. H. R. Forsyth.

Troop Prize—Pte. J. M. Xavier.

Reserve Challenge Cup—Sergeant.

Musketry Competition—1st C.Q.M.S. Grenham (Machine Gun Co.), 2nd Capt. H. Owen-Hughes (Machine Gun Co.), 3rd Corpl. Woodman (Machine Gun Co.).

Revolver Competition (Corps)—1st L/Cpl. Lockhart (Engineer Co.), 2nd Pte. Major Mackie (Scottish Co.).

Revolver Competition (Open)—1st Sub-Inspector Hopkins (H.K. Police), 2nd A. B. Thompson (H.M.S. Hermes).

GIRL TRICKED AND SOLD

CHINESE SENTENCED TO
FOUR MONTHS' GAOL

Sentence of four months' hard labour was imposed by Mr. MacLaren at Central Magistracy yesterday on a Chinese who was charged with selling a girl to a brothel up country—in the Po Kong district.

According to Detective Inspector Elston of the S.C.A., the girl and the defendant formerly worked together and on March 24 last, she was missing from her home in Second Street. Persuaded by the defendant she stayed with him at Shamshuipo and at the end of April, through the services of another woman, the girl was taken to the country where she was sold to a brother for $80. Defendant was alleged to have kept $40 of the proceeds, and given the remainder to the girl woman.

The girl was recovered by the Canton Police and brought back to Hong Kong by her father.

Giving Evidence, the girl, said defendant had cheated her by saying he had no wife. She was forced to go to the country as the defendant was unable to support her. If she had not been recovered by her father she would have died. She was afraid to run away from the brothel.

Defendant, in the course of a statement from the dock, said the girl ran away to Macao, and receipt of a letter from her he went there on April 1. He did not go to the country.

His Worship however convicted the defendant and passed sentence as stated.

SIX MONTHS FOR SNATCHER

For snatching a handbag from a woman at Wan Sha Road, Tai Hang, on Thursday night, a Chinese was sentenced to six months' hard labour. The bag contained $101 and jewellery.

ATTEMPTED MURDER OF JOURNALIST

How the Accused was Caught

OUTRAGE IN LYNDBURST TERRACE

The case in which Chan Heo, 29, a chicken carrier, is charged with the attempted murder of Lo Wai Keung, the proprietor of the Tin Nam Daily News, was continued before Mr. Wynne-Jones at Central Magistracy yesterday.

The accused was alleged to be the man who fired five shots at the complainant at No. 19, Lyndhurst Terrace, on the night of April 18. The complaint had a most fortunate escape being only slightly wounded in the left shoulder.

Mr. J. A. Fraser, Assistant Attorney General, appeared for the Crown and the accused was represented by Mr. M. K. Lo who reserved his cross-examination.

Ho Hung, a salesman of the Chee Hing Shop at No. 19, Lyndhurst Terrace, in which the complainant took refuge when he was fired at, said that on the night in question he was inside the left counter of the shop. There were in the shop at the time two other jokis and two women customers. He heard two reports from a gun coming from the street and they sounded like the firing of big crackers. Following the second report, there was a noise as if some glass had been broken.

At the same time a man dressed in European style ran into the shop shouting that someone had struck him. When witness heard the second shot he got down behind the counter and immediately after he heard three more shots in succession. Ten minutes later, witness got up and saw a large crowd, headed by Detective Inspector Chu Heung at the doorway of the shop. Witness found a revolver on the floor and saw Inspector Chu Heung pick it up.

Ten minutes later, witness saw the man who had rushed into the shop being taken by a policeman from under the stairs. He identified the man as the complainant.

Altogether four panes of glass were broken.

Mr. Fraser breaks the Court fan.

When another joki of the shop was giving corroborative evidence, Mr. Fraser in trying to show the ladder which had a bullet mark on it to witness, struck a fan with the ladder, breaking the blades which missed Mr. Lo's head by inches.

The Chase.

Ng Tak Wing, who caught the accused after a long chase, said that on the night in question he was in Lyndhurst Terrace when he heard a shot from behind. He turned and saw a man dressed in a black suit firing a second shot just outside No. 19, Lyndhurst Terrace. Witness could not see who the man was firing at. Immediately after he had fired the second shot the man rushed into the shop. Witness was then about two shops away, and when he stepped about two paces forward, he heard two or three more shots in quick succession. The man in black then ran out of the shop with a Chinese detective chasing him. The man dashed past him and witness also gave chase and together with the detective followed the man down Gage Street. Near the end of Gage Street witness met another constable, C300, and asked him to join in the chase. Together they ran into Gutzlaff Street where they saw the man in black coming out from Chuk Hing Lane. Witness was about 10 paces behind, and when near No. 1, Gutzlaff Street witness saw the man take off his jacket and throw it away. The constable who was with him stooped down to pick up the jacket while witness continued the chase. The fugitive was now wearing a white singlet and black trousers. He ran down Wellington Street and eventually into Staveland Street witness made a spurt and caught him.

Constable C300 then came up and searched the fugitive.

Mr. Fraser: How did you know he was the man you wanted?

Witness: Because I kept on chasing him.

You are sure he was the man?

Yes.

The case was then adjourned until next Wednesday.

"THE STRUGGLE"

Prague.—The unemployed of Prague have begun to publish a newspaper with a circulation of about 1,500 copies produced on a hectograph.

The paper is called "The Struggle."

CANTON NOTES

Mr. Eugene Chen's
Appointment

GENERAL CHEN MING SHU
LEAVES CANTON

(From Our Own Correspondent)

CANTON, May 11.

Mr. Eugene Chen, the former Foreign Minister, who is now in Hong Kong after having been at Canton for a few days, is expected to return to the city soon, and, it is reported, that he will be officially inducted as a member of the South West Political Council next Monday morning. The appointment of Mr. Eugene Chen to his new post here has led to speculation as to whether he will be called upon to direct the foreign relations here, and reports state that the South West is contemplating the establishment of a separate Foreign Office, ostensibly to be headed by Mr. Chen. Such reports have naturally perturbed Nanking, and a representative of the Foreign Ministry, who happens to be in Canton just now, has been instructed to ascertain the truth of the rumour. Mr. Chang, the said Nanking representative, in a statement to the Press, has however now revealed that he has received assurances from the South West authorities that there has been no idea of a separate Foreign Office.

General Chen Ming Shu.

The former local Governor, General Chen Ming Shu, after a stay of a few days in Canton where he has been a much honoured guest, is leaving for Peking this morning en route to Nanking, accompanied by General Tsai Ting Kai, and several high officials of the former Kwangtung Government. There are reports of General Chen being asked to join the present South West Government, but these seem now to be discounted by his departure for Nanking. While in the city, General Chen Ming Shu visited the Home newly opened in Honam for the disabled soldiers of the 19th Route Army, and distributed a sum of $1,000 among the inmates.

Native Cloth Movement Among Students.

The students of the Sun Yat Sen University, who have just finished their recent strike, are now launching a campaign for the use of native cloth among themselves. A set of rules has been adopted for observance and requires all students to wear only clothes made with domestic material. First offenders will receive publicity in the University publications, while those who do not heed such warnings will be more drastically dealt with by having their clothing (of foreign materials) sheared or otherwise damaged. This movement was launched on the 10th of the month, when the occasion was being celebrated by the holding of a fashion parade by the students. The girl students being seen in fashionable dresses made of native material.

The case in which Chan Heo, 29, a chicken carrier, is charged with the attempted murder of Lo Wai Keung, the proprietor of the Tin Nam Daily News, was continued before Mr. Wynne-Jones at Central Magistracy yesterday.

The accused was alleged to be the man who fired five shots at the complainant at No. 19, Lyndhurst Terrace, on the night of April 18. The complaint had a most fortunate escape being only slightly wounded in the left shoulder.

Mr. J. A. Fraser, Assistant Attorney General, appeared for the Crown and the accused was represented by Mr. M. K. Lo who reserved his cross-examination.

Ho Hung, a salesman of the Chee Hing Shop at No. 19, Lyndhurst Terrace, in which the complainant took refuge when he was fired at, said that on the night in question he was inside the left counter of the shop. There were in the shop at the time two other jokis and two women customers. He heard two reports from a gun coming from the street and they sounded like the firing of big crackers. Following the second report, there was a noise as if some glass had been broken.

At the same time a man dressed in European style ran into the shop shouting that someone had struck him. When witness heard the second shot he got down behind the counter and immediately after he heard three more shots in succession. Ten minutes later, witness got up and saw a large crowd, headed by Detective Inspector Chu Heung at the doorway of the shop. Witness found a revolver on the floor and saw Inspector Chu Heung pick it up.

Ten minutes later, witness saw the man who had rushed into the shop being taken by a policeman from under the stairs. He identified the man as the complainant.

Altogether four panes of glass were broken.

STRIKE IN YING TAK DISTRICT

SHOPS CLOSED FOR DECISION.

A message from Canton states that a strike was proclaimed in the Mong Fow village of Ying Tak District since Wednesday, and since then all shops have been shut. In the past, merchants of the village have had a Commercial Union for the purpose of solving business disputes.

But the new District Magistrate has decided that the Union is illegal, because it has not yet been properly registered.

An order closing it was therefore issued, but the merchants refused to take any notice.

The situation in Mong Fow is very serious, and the strikers refuse to yield.

SAVINGS BANK

TO BE ESTABLISHED IN HOK SHAN.

Mr. Lee Yat Ngok, the ex-Magistrate of the Hok Shan District, was very anxious to establish a savings bank in the city, and went to America to visit his countrymen to collect contributions and investments.

He was heartily in the United States and his fellow countrymen all agreed that such a bank should be established as soon as possible, for the benefit of the people, and of the country.

An important conference was therefore held to discuss the matter, and during this proceeding, nearly five hundred thousand dollars in shares have been applied for, and allocated.

The future prospects of this bank seem to be very promising.

"PROGRESS" AND THE CRACKER INDUSTRY

50,000 WOMEN IN TUNG KOON
OUT OF WORK.

The citizens of Tung Koon City, between Hong Kong and Canton, living mostly to the Cheung, Tang, Li, and Wan clans, and the women are mostly employed in making fire-crackers.

This kind of employment enables a fair standard of living as the workers earn about $10. per month.

Owing to the big losses suffered by firecracker merchants last year, and further to the increase of sulphur and salt-petre, the business has received a severe setback.

Many factories have been obliged to close down and unemployment is increasing.

The total number of women employed in cracker making was formerly no less than 100,000, and it is reported that over one half of this number are now out of work.

JAPANESE BEGIN BOMBING CAMPAIGN

NAZI PLAN FOR PRUSSIA

TO BE LAND OF FREE PEASANTS

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

BERLIN, May 12. A Nazi plan to form Prussia and, eventually, Germany, into a land of free peasants, is embodied in a Bill for Prussia, which the promoters describe as the most important change in German law since the peasants were freed after the Napoleonic wars.

The Bill, which is valid only for "farms," which are defined as tracts of land not too large to be worked by one peasant family, forbids the free sale of land, and lays down that a peasant may possess only one heir, who may inherit the farm from him.

The peasant must be of "German," namely, non-Jewish or non-coloured, blood. The marriage of a peasant with a person who is of "non-German" blood, disqualifies his offspring from inheritance.

GERMANY'S POLICY

SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION IN HOUSE OF LORDS

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

GENEVA, May 12. The crisis in the Disarmament Conference over the German amendments to the British Plan is no nearer a solution.

An important statement was made in the British House of Lords on this matter last night.

At Geneva, a meeting of the Big Five, presided over by Mr. Arthur Henderson, was held last evening to consider the report on the failure of private talks between the Anglo-German representatives, who were unable to agree on the procedure to be followed.

No Way Out.

The Big Five will report to the Steering Committee to-day and the General Commission will probably meet on Saturday to consider the situation. There seems little prospect at present of discovering a way out of the impasse into which the German amendments have led the conference, a fact which gives added importance to the British statement in the House of Lords.

Lord Hailsham's Views.

Replying to a debate initiated by Lord Cecil, the Secretary of State for War, Lord Hailsham, said that if with the British proposal before them, Germany were to decline to participate in the discussion or walked out of the Disarmament Conference, she would be rejecting the offers made in fulfilment of pledges and would incur any responsibility for failure that might ensue.

He hoped that Germany would adopt a more reasonable attitude, but even if she did not it would not follow necessarily that she would leave the Conference.

If, however, the German delegation did walk out, obviously it would be a matter for the gravest consideration as regards what course should be followed by the remaining Powers.

Hard to Satisfy.

He was personally of the opinion that the juridical result would be that Germany would be bound by the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles and that any attempt on her part to re-arm would be a breach of that Treaty and would bring into operation the sanctions provided in that Treaty.

Lord Hailsham also expressed the opinion that it would also be very difficult to expect some of Germany's neighbours to be so satisfied with that legal obligation of her part that they would be able to agree to any extensive measure of disarmament, if Germany broke away from the Disarmament Conference and declared that she did not intend to be bound by the Treaty of Versailles.

The debate then ended.

GENERAL EMBARGO ON JAPAN

LORD CECIL URGES DRASTIC STEP

DEBATE IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, May 11. THE policy of the British Government in the Far East remains the same as it has been throughout, that is, to act as a loyal member of the League of Nations in the closest possible collaboration and consultation with other members of the League, stated Lord Hailsham, Secretary of State for War, in the House of Lords, yesterday, when replying to questions during a debate on the Far East and Disarmament.

The debate was initiated by Lord Cecil, supported by Lord Parnmore.

In regard to Lord Cecil's suggestion that Britain should invite other nations to co-operate in imposing an embargo on Japan, Lord Hailsham pointed out the difficulties.

Notice Necessary.

There was, he said, the Anglo-Japanese commercial treaty, including the most favoured nation clause, which could not be denounced without 12 months' notice.

Doubtless, the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, would consider the suggestion, but that must not be regarded as any indication that the British Government intended to submit to any such proposal at Geneva, Lord Hailsham said.

He was not sure that if the sort of actions suggested were actually carried out, it would be any longer true to say that we were not likely to have war in the immediate future.

Such suggestions required the gravest, most anxious and longest consideration before they could be accepted.

Lord Hailsham, continuing, said that in regard to the Far East, the Government was carefully, and anxiously collaborating with other nations at Geneva.

The Government was considering the matter most anxiously with a real desire to fulfil their obligations as a member of the League, but with the keenest consciousness that an incautious act might precipitate the very harm which Lord Cecil was anxious to avoid.

BOMBARDMENT OF MIYUN: ONE THOUSAND WOUNDED

FEARS THAT THE JAPANESE WOULD CARRY OUT INTENSIVE BOMBING OPERATIONS IN PEIPING WERE CONFIRMED THIS MORNING WHEN JAPANESE PLANES FLYING OVER MIYUN, A PROVINCE ABOUT FORTY MILES NORTH-EAST OF PEIPING, CONCENTRATED HEAVY BOMBARDMENT ON THAT PLACE AND OTHER CITIES INSIDE THE GREAT WALL OVER A THOUSAND CHINESE TROOPS ARE REPORTED WOUNDED.

IT WOULD SEEM, THEREFORE, THAT THE "WAR" HAS STARTED, BUT ALTHOUGH THE CITY DEFENCES OPENED HEAVY FIRE ON THE OVERHEAD ENEMY, UP TO A LATE HOUR LAST NIGHT NO JAPANESE CASUALTY WAS REPORTED.

EARLIER IN THE DAY, A GIANT JAPANESE BOMBER FLEW OVER THE CITY BUT DID NOT DROP ANY BOMBS. IT WAS THOUGHT THAT THE OBJECT OF SENDING THIS PLANE OVER PEIPING WAS TO SHAFTER THE MORALE OF THE PEOPLE BUT SUBSEQUENT EVENTS SEEM TO INDICATE THAT THIS PLANE WAS SENT OVER ON SPY WORK AND THE BOMBING OPERATIONS WERE THE RESULTS OF THE REPORTS MADE BY HER.

OCCUPYING OLD POSITIONS

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

INTENSIVE BOMBARDMENT OF MIYUN, FORTY MILES NORTH-EAST OF PEIPING AND OTHER CITIES INSIDE THE GREAT WALL WAS CARRIED OUT TO-DAY BY JAPANESE PLANES, ACCORDING TO CHINESE REPORTS.

ONE THOUSAND CHINESE WOUNDED ARRIVED HERE FROM THE FRONT. THE JAPANESE HAVE APPARENTLY SUCCEEDED IN OCCUPYING MOST OF THE OLD POSITIONS BUT AT PRESENT ARE NOT CROSSING THE LUAN RIVER.

IGNITED BOMB FOUND

Tokyo, May 12.

A JAPANESE REPORT FROM MUKDEN STATES THAT AN IGNITED BOMB, FOUND IN THE BRITISH CONSULATE-GENERAL THIS MORNING, WAS REMOVED BEFORE IT EXPLODED.

A SIMILAR BOMB HAVING BEEN FOUND IN THE AMERICAN CONSULATE-GENERAL ON TUESDAY EVENING, THE POLICE HAVE BEEN MOBILISED TO TRACK DOWN THE OFFENDERS WHO THE JAPANESE BELIEVE ARE CHINESE AIMING TO STIR UP TROUBLE BETWEEN BRITAIN AND AMERICAN AGAINST MANCHUKUO.

LUAN RIVER CROSSED

UNMARKED PLANE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

PEIPING, May 12. Another bombing plane, flying without marks of any kind, but undoubtedly Japanese, soared over the city this morning. No bombs, however, were dropped.

The arrival of the machine was greeted by bursts of machine-gun fire from the city defences but it completed its trip without apparently suffering damage, although heavy fire was concentrated upon its vicinity.

The plane remained in the vicinity of Peiping for nearly half an hour, at times flying as low as between fifteen hundred and two thousand feet.

The machine was clearly visible, but it could not be positively identified in the absence of marks.

Bombing Not Feared.

There is no doubt whatever that it was a Japanese plane and the general opinion here is that the Japanese are carrying out aerial demonstrations in the Peiping area with a view to destroying the morale. They have done little in this direction up to the present and actual bombing is not feared at the moment.

It was while the machine was circling the city over the Legation Quarter, including the American Guard, that the city defences opened fire from the city walls and Chien Men Gate.

IN NANTIENTHEN.

PEIPING, May 12. This morning's Chinese despatches report further heavy fighting at Nantienthen, where the Japanese forces are now seeking to turn the Chinese right flank. Central Government troops under the command of General Kwan Lin-tseng, are strongly resisting.

It is through Nantienthen that the main Japanese drive in the direction of Peiping is expected.

GENERAL HO RETURNS

PEIPING, May 12. LATEST reports from the Luansho region mention further attempts by the Japanese forces to cross the River at different points. Fighting at Shikiao has spread into the shallow, but the Chinese claim to be able to repulse the advance of the Japanese.

General Ho Chu Kuo has returned to the field to take charge of operations.

CHINESE RETREATING

Tokyo, Later. A report from Mukden brings the news that following heavy fighting the Japanese forced a passage across the Luan River.

The Chinese defence was broken through and their troops retreated with the Japanese in pursuit.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

PEIPING, May 12. "SENSELESS" was the term applied by General Pao Yu Lin, Director of the Peiping Public Safety Bureau when interviewed to-day concerning the visits of the Japanese aeroplanes. He said that at best the general visits could only disturb a small section of the Chinese people in the rear and could have no effect on the military situation whatever.

General Pao Yu Lin declares that the air defences of the City were in a sound condition and the people could have no effect on the military situation whatever.

DR. ROSENBERG'S VISIT

WREATH THROWN INTO THE THAMES

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

LONDON, May 11. THE hostility aroused by certain recent events in Germany was emphasised by an unpleasant episode which occurred to-day regarding a wreath which Dr. Rosenberg placed at the base of the Whitehall Cenotaph yesterday.

Early this morning an unknown person cut away from it the silk swastika decoration and a little later the wreath was taken away in a car and, it is understood, thrown into the Thames.

As a sequel, an ex-officer, Captain Sears, who removed the wreath, was fined forty shillings for wilful damage to a wreath, the property of Office of Works.

Defendant said his action was a "deliberate national protest" since Hitler's Government was fostering a feeling "which many of our fellows lost their lives in fighting."

The Magistrate remarked that the defendant's private reasons did not come into the matter, and his action was ill-mannered and improper.

Only Short Visit.

The matter was mentioned in the House of Commons to-night when the Home Secretary, Sir John Gilmour, was called on to reply to a number of questions with reference to the presence in England of two prominent members of the German Nazi movement, Dr. Rosenberg and Herr Thort.

Sir John said he understood Dr. Rosenberg proposed to stay for few days only.

Herr Thort, who was a foreign newspaper correspondent, had been residing in England since 1930.

No Discrimination.

Questioned why different treatment was accorded them from that accorded "other propagandists," the Home Secretary said he did not think there was any difference in treatment, and added that if there were any contravention of the rules and regulations, these would no doubt be dealt with. There was no discrimination as to the undertaking regarding propaganda which all foreigners had to observe when they came to Britain. Each individual case was considered on its merits.

Motion Over-ruled.

Later the Leader of Opposition, Mr. George Lansbury, asked leave to move the adjournment of the House to discuss as a definite matter of urgent public importance, the admission to Britain of "certain German Fascist propagandists" in view of the failure of the Home Secretary to obtain from them undertakings not to engage in propaganda. The Home Secretary intervened to remark that Dr. Rosenberg's visit was for a few days only that in view of the fact that the German Ambassador interested himself in the circumstances of that visit he saw no reason to make special arrangements.

The Speaker of the House having ruled that Mr. Lansbury's motion did not come within the Standing Order, the latter gave notice that he would, if time permitted, raise the question on the motion for adjournment at the end of to-night's sitting.

BRITISH OARS

INCREASE IN EXPORT.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

LONDON, May 11. A LARGE increase in the export of British motor-cars is shown by the Board of Trade returns published to-day.

During the first four months of this year, cars valued at £2,337,038 were sold overseas as against £2,340,358 for the corresponding period last year.

STOCK MARKETS STRONG

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

LONDON, May 11. THE stock markets closed with a good tone after some business on a large scale particularly in home industrial. War Loan 3 1/2 per cent. 89 7/8, and a new India four per cent. were actively dealt with at 15/16 premium.

TO SUPPRESS WHITE BANDITS

SOVIET CONCENTRATING TROOPS NEAR TURKROG

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY]

HARBIN, May 12. It is officially stated that the Soviet is concentrating on the frontier 6,000 reinforcements near Turkrogo.

The Soviet declare they are required to "suppress White bandits" but refugees from the Maritime Province state that the Soviet is openly declaring that Japan wishes to take advantage of the Chinese Eastern Railway dispute to despatch troops to the Maritime Province, in which case the Soviet will evacuate the Province, being confident of returning later.

The ultimatum of a month for the return of the C.E.R. rolling-stock by Russia, expires at midnight to-night.

SEVERE LOSSES ON C.E.R.

BANDITS PLAY HAVOC WITH EMPLOYEES

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

MOSCOW, May 12. THE severe losses sustained on the eastern line of the Chinese Eastern Railway as the result of attacks by Hunbuz tribesmen, are detailed in a report from the Soviet manager at Khabarovsk.

The report states that since 1932, losses to railway personnel are:— 56 killed.
825 injured.
593 kidnapped.

Over 1,000 employees have been robbed and a number of employees are starving owing to the theft of food by the tribesmen.

Considerable damage to locomotives, rolling stock and track has also been caused by the marauders. The report proposes a considerable reduction of traffic on the Immianpo-Pogranichnaia section and urges that armoured cars should accompany passenger trains.

COTTON AND SILK

$20 MILLION LOAN FOR COTTON MILLS.

(Kuo Min News Agency)

NANKING, May 7.

Measures for the relief of the cotton and silk industries were discussed at a meeting called yesterday by Mr. Chen Kung Fo, Minister of Industry, and participated in by the various business leaders from Shanghai (who have been attending the inaugural conference of the Rural Rehabilitation Commission), including Messrs. Yu Ya Ching, Wang Hsiao Lai, and O. S. Liu.

With reference to the relief of the cotton industry, it was decided at the meeting to make the following recommendations to the Executive Yuan:

1. The Government shall make arrangements with State Banks whereby the latter are to grant to cotton mill owners loans to a total amount of $20 million at a low rate of interest. Detailed measures concerning the loans shall be jointly formulated by the Ministries of Industry and Finance.

2. The Shanghai Cotton Mill owners shall form a joint organ for the sale and transportation of their products.

With regard to the relief of the silk industry, the scheme of the Ministry of Industry to float a silk loan of six million dollars for the relief of the silk industry in the provinces of Chekiang and Kiangsu occasioned much criticism. It was pointed out that as the benefit of the loan would be confined only to two provinces, it savoured of discrimination against other provinces, such as Szechuan, Shantung and Kwangtung, in which the silk industry stood in as much need of relief as that in Chekiang and Kiangsu. It was finally decided that the Ministry should draw up relief plans for the silk industry of the country as a whole.

HAPPY SPIRIT TEST
MATCHESOR DROP THEM ALTOGETHER
SAYS SIR F. LACEY

Sir Francis Lacey, former secretary of the M.C.C., speaking at the annual meeting at Trowbridge of the Wiltshire County Cricket Club, of which he is president, referred to alleged "body line" bowling, of which he confessed he did not know the meaning.

If these visits, he continued, were to cause bickering and bad blood, then he thought it would be better to discontinue them at any rate for the time being.

He believed the M.C.C. would go into the matter very carefully, and would call an Imperial Cricket Conference.

He believed something might be done by adding to or altering the laws of the game so as to bring back a friendly atmosphere, and that if such steps were taken all counties would give support.

COLD START FOR WEST INDIANSPromising Form in First
GameSOUND BATTING BY DA
COSTA

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, April 23. If only the weather had been more genial, the one-day match at Gravesend, which ended in a draw, between the West Indian touring team and a side collected by A. P. Freeman would have made an ideal opening to the cricket season.

The surroundings were delightful, for the Bat and Ball ground, which belongs to the Gravesend club, is a pleasant place indeed, and after the West Indian batsmen had put together 231 runs, proving, incidentally, that they are no longer dismayed by spin bowling, the spectators were treated to a majestic hour of Frank Woolley, who made 59 out of his side's total of 178 for six wickets.

Here, then, were the ingredients of a most agreeable day's cricket, but, although some 5,000 spectators apparently enjoyed themselves thoroughly, the West Indians, accustomed to grey skies and biting winds, must now be recalling the game with grave disapproval. It was, in fact, uncommonly bleak and chilly, a sweater day if ever there was one, and we may assume that our visitors did not show us anything like their true form. They showed us enough, however, to convince us that when the sun does shine they will entertain our first-class programme considerably.

Unperturbed by Freeman.

They seem to have matured since they were last over here in 1928. Then, you may remember, the West Indians, were an engagingly unsophisticated side, always eager to have a smack at fast bowling, but unhappy against a slow, spinning attack. On Saturday they were unperturbed by the craftiness of Freeman, Marriott, and Hazlerigg; one or two of them, indeed, treated Freeman himself with considerable levity. They made studied use of their legs as a second line of defence in the reprehensible modern manner, though, if criticism is permissible at so early a stage, it must be added that they were unexpectedly slow on their feet. Possibly they were frozen into comparative immobility, and it may be that before long we shall find them stepping out confidently instead of being more concerned to cover up their wickets.

Unfortunately G. Headley, their outstanding batsman, had hurt a hand in the nets at Lord's and was unable to play, but of the others Roach, Barrow, Merry, Christiani, and Da Costa were the most impressive. Roach began with remarkable confidence, but had the misfortune to glance a ball wide of the leg stump off his pads into Hazlerigg's hands at first-leg, a peculiar way of getting out.

Barrow produced a wristy late-cut which promised well for faster wickets; Merry placed some graceful and beautifully-timed outside forcing strokes; Christiani trounced Freeman gaily, and Da Costa, who made 38, showed himself to be a thoroughly workmanlike player. A good beginning in short, even if it was admitted that Freeman and Marriott were the only really dangerous bowlers in the scratch side.

Weather Cramps Bowlers.

It was about half-past four when Martindale and Valentine took up the attack for the West Indies, but here again the cramping effect of the cold weather was plainly visible. Martindale especially was holding himself back, and there is no doubt that he will prove, to the much more formidable and definitely fast later in the tour.

Valentine, a tall, supple player, with an easy action, who makes the most of his height made a very good impression. He should be able to whip the ball quickly off the pitch. Achong, left-hand medium pace, did not appear to be difficult, but Da Costa, medium right-hand, bowled steadily and with some effect.

There remains Woolley, and anyone who has seen Woolley at his best will know what that means. When Griffiths, possibly the most useful of the West Indian stock bowlers, was first put on Woolley promptly batted him through the covers for two 4's in succession.

Extra was then dropped out to the boundary and mid-wicket moved across, whereupon Woolley pulled the next ball to the ropes between square-leg and mid-on. This was a typical over, and Woolley's innings was a luxurious addition to an already sufficiently interesting day's play.

A Chinese woman, Mak Fung Kiu, was charged before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy yesterday, with possession of 28 tins of prepared opium at No. 28 Fleming Road, 2nd floor, and fined $2,000 or eight months' hard labour.

TO-DAY'S FOOTBALL

SENIOR CHAMPIONSHIP TO BE DECIDED

Only three matches, all in the First Division, are down for decision to-day, but in one of them the championship will be decided. South China, who only need two more points to capture the honours will be opposed to the Navy, and should have no difficulty in winning. The sailors are greatly handicapped by the absence of several of their regular players who have gone North for their summer cruise, and they are not likely to extend the Chinese.

At King's Park, the Club de Recreo will meet the Chinese Athletic, and an even match should be seen. Both teams are likely to field reserves, and according to the form so far shown by these two teams, the Chinese have the better chance of winning.

The club will play their last match of the season with St. Joseph's on their own ground, and should come out winners.

BIG LOCAL CASH
SWEEPTO BE DRAWN IN SEPTEMBER

Another big cash sweep is being organised by the Hong Kong Jockey Club and will be drawn in September.

The sweep will be on the Subscription Griffins Challenge Cup which will be run at the Ninth Extra Race Meeting on September 23. The Jockey Club are hoping to sell 15,000 tickets at $10 each in order to provide for a vast prize of $70,000.

HOMICIDE

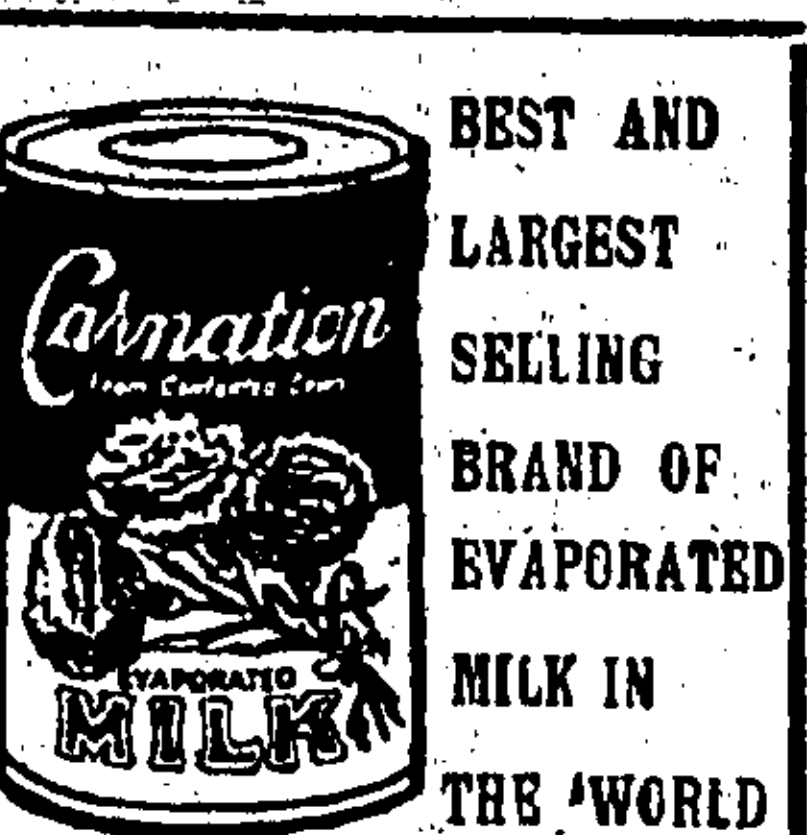

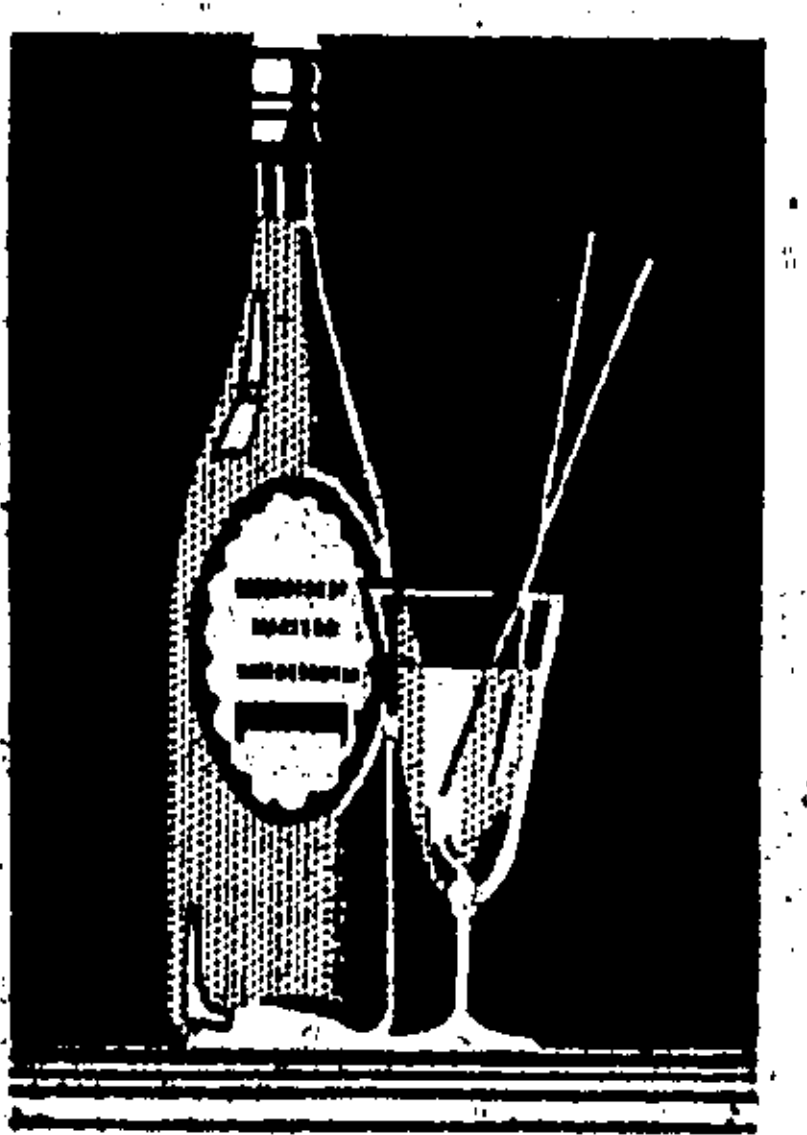

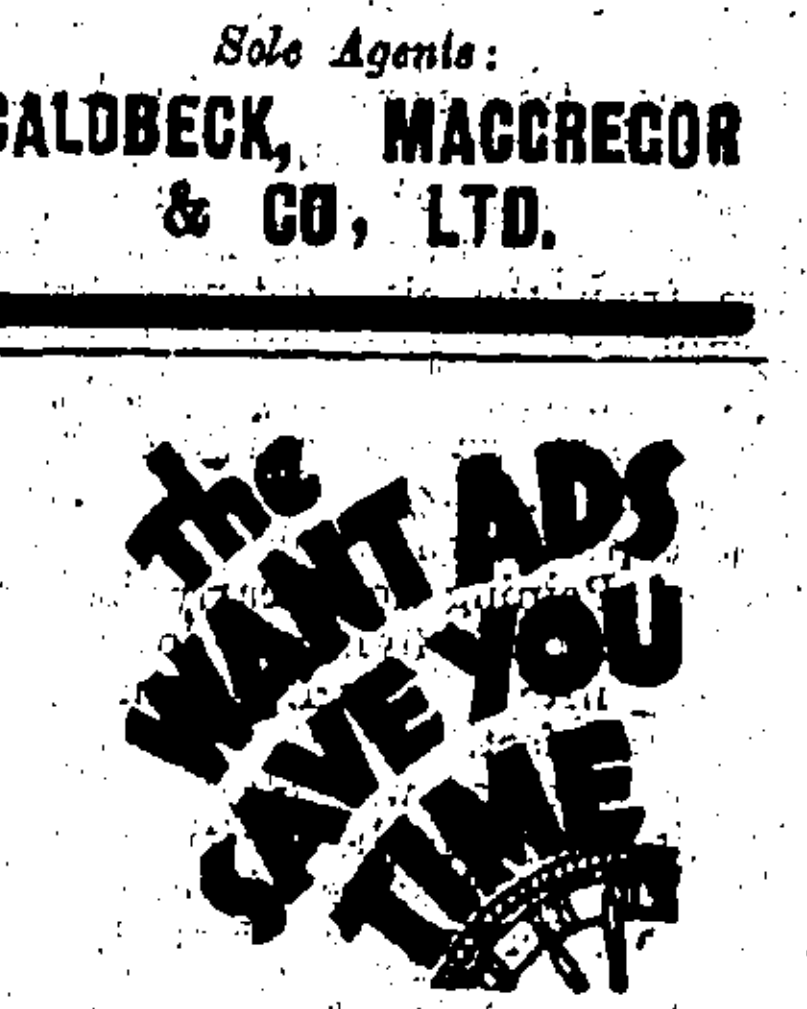

Singapore.—The trial of Harold Vincent Perreau on a charge of culpable homicide not amounting to murder opened at the Singapore Assizes on May 5. The charge follows the discovery of the body of a Chinese woman in a house in Telok Stangee in January last. The woman had sustained multiple injuries including several fractured ribs.

The evidence taken at the hearing included the statements of the landlord of the house, the police and the doctor who examined the body. Further hearing of the case was then adjourned.

HONG KONG, MAY 13, 1933.

PLAYING FIELDS

It is gratifying to know that action has last been taken in the matter of providing playing grounds for poor children in Kowloon and other parts of the Colony. The meeting recently held at the Public Works Department, at which it was unanimously decided to inaugurate a Playing Fields Association, is a welcome sign of the changed attitude of the official as well as the non-official element towards this very essential need. It would be interesting to learn whether this decisive step was the result of articles in the Press, and discussions at the Kowloon Residents Association meetings, at which the question of the allotment of definite areas for recreational purposes was aired; if so, it came none too soon. It is curious how months, often years of agitation and propaganda are necessary for the introduction of any reform; yet equally curious is that the force, which some call public opinion, accumulates and grows until it has assumed such importance that officialdom is obliged to act, one way or the other. It is to be hoped that the many other reforms and improvements which Kowloon has been demanding these many years, will be introduced with similar expedition.

One feature of the newly-formed Association which impresses us most favourably is the generous offers of financial support to the playing grounds scheme which have been made, quite spontaneously, by several sports clubs in the Colony. As we have pointed out in previous leading articles on this topic, some of the choicest land in Kowloon is held by private recreation clubs to which the public are not admitted and to which the poor and their children are not eligible for membership. The clubs in question have every right to this land, but it seemed a trifle unjust that no provision should have been made for those who cannot afford to belong to private clubs. No doubt the clubs themselves realised the position and it says a great deal for their sympathy and good-sportsmanship that they should have made so generous a gesture. This spirit of service might be carried even further by individual members of the various clubs offering to build up game teams for the children and generally helping them to acquire knowledge and proficiency in sports. It is useless to turn the average child loose on a field without any rules or instructions, and it is to be hoped that a sports instructor will be available on the ground to teach them the rudiments of organised games.

One of the greatest drawbacks to education in the Colony is this lack of playing fields, for there must be few who do not realise the danger of improving the mind and neglecting the body. Cricket and football matches between local schools, which are a prominent feature of every schoolboy's curriculum at home, are few and far between in this Colony, with the result that hundreds of boys and girls leave school every year with no particular desire to play games in after life. In any good public school in England the sports master is not only the idol of the boys but is regarded by the Governors as a vital link in the educational system, and we all know what fine physical types are bred in these institutions. There has been good cause for much of the Government's apparent indifference to educational and recreational facilities, but now that steps have been taken to provide the latter we feel that it is time to warm our hearts somewhat towards the authorities, for they have given very active encouragement to the project sponsored by the Association. Let us hope that as a result of it the future generation of Kowloon boys and girls will be mentally and physically fit to credit to the Colony.

MALARIA IN KOWLOON TONG

BAD NEAR THE HILLS: NULLAH THAT NEEDS ATTENTION

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT)

The question of malaria in Kowloon Tong has been the subject of much discussion between residents in that part of Kowloon for some time past. There are some who hold the view that the disease is non-existent in Kowloon Tong; others hold that there is far too much of it, and when one goes into the matter, odd though it may seem, it would appear that both schools of thought are right.

In the lower sections of Kowloon Tong, near Prince Edward Road, there is little or no malaria, but when one gets further into the place, there is plenty of it.

Recently, the disease was so prevalent in this part of Kowloon Tong that several complaints were sent in to the Medical Officer of Health who stated that he had passed on the complaints to the proper quarters for action.

I called on the Malaria Bureau of the Government Medical Department and was very courteously informed by the gentleman in charge that there had been several complaints about malaria in Kowloon Tong. He added, however, that in the bottom of this district, near Prince Edward Road, there was practically no evidence of malaria but as stated above, there was plenty of it near the foot of the hill.

In the course of a conversation with a prominent local medical practitioner, I was told that there was plenty of malaria in Kowloon Tong, but he would rather not make any statement.

One resident told me that he had been so much bothered by mosquitoes that he has had very little sleep during the past few weeks. Another said that he had been living in Kowloon Tong for the past five or six years and each year sees a repetition of the past, so far as the mosquito nuisance is concerned.

Local Doctor's Opinion.

I sought an interview with Dr. Bernardo Sousa on the matter as I had been told that he subscribed his signature to the petition. Dr. Sousa denied that he was a party to the petition, but he added that sometime ago, he had occasion to send in a report to the Health Officer regarding malaria in Kowloon Tong. Dr. Sousa informed me that as far as he knew, the Kent Road district was the only part of Kowloon Tong affected by this disease, and even then, only those people living in the houses bordering the nullah are troubled by malaria.

Dr. Sousa said that at one period he had as many as eleven patients living in this district and in each case the complaint was malignant malaria. He accordingly sent a report to the Health Officer and has since received a reply that the matter was being taken up by the proper authorities who had already found out the type of mosquito that "thrived" in this district.

A Pernicious Nullah.

I asked Dr. Sousa if he did not think it necessary to fill up the nullah as suggested by one of the residents, but he replied that this could not be done. What could be done, and should be done, added Dr. Sousa, was that the nullah be properly drained. Another useful thing to do would be to pour a generous quantity of oil into the nullah as this would put a stop to the insects breeding.

Danger to the District.

I sought the view of another old resident of Kowloon Tong and this gentleman was very much troubled by this mosquito menace. He said that he had stayed on in Kowloon Tong for years in the hope that all the malaria would be wiped out, but year after year the same thing happens. If a stop is not put to this, very soon the value of the place would diminish and people would fight shy of it.

This gentleman was of the opinion that the mosquitoes came from the Taimoshan district and explained that the district practically at the foot of this mountain, gets the full effect of it. He added that a great number of little pools can be found at the foot of Taimoshan and if the powers that be would only organise a drive and clean-up the place, there will be fewer cases of malaria in Kowloon Tong and in time the disease might soon be non-existent in what otherwise is a very pleasant residential quarter.

HONG KONG-MANILA BY JUNK

TWO WEEK'S EN ROUTE

MANILA, May 9.
Flying the Stars and Stripes from her masthead, the Chinese junk, Shin Di Ping Shi, on which two Americans and a mixed crew of five men are making an adventure trip around the world, sailed into port early yesterday morning, dropping anchor in the breakwater off the Legaspi Landing at 8 o'clock.

The 85-foot junk comes from Hong Kong on the second lap of her globe-encircling cruise which her jovial skipper, John Blomshied, declared may take 10 years to complete. Although the junk made a record run of five and a half days from Shanghai to Hong Kong it took her two weeks to come to Manila from the latter port, a six-day calm being to blame for the slow passage.

The trip, conceived by John Blomshied, the master, a New York artist, and Loring Franks, the chief officer, who also is from New York, started March 6 at Shanghai, but the craft was refitted at Hong Kong. After a stay of several days in Manila, they plan to leave for the next stage in the long journey, by way of the southern islands, Borneo, possibly Bali, to Australia. From there the route calls for a voyage to Honolulu, then through the Panama Canal to the east coast of the United States, Europe and back to China.

AIR COMMODORE - Fellowes leader of the Houston Everest Flight Expedition, and Flight Lieutenant McIntyre, who are flying home to England from Purnea in light planes, reached Constantinople to-day and left later for Sofia.

A STOLEN PARTRIDGE COAL COOLIE CHARGED.

A charge for the unlawful possession of a partridge, suspected of having been stolen in the Colony was preferred against a coal coolie before Mr. MacLaren at Central Magistracy yesterday.

Defendant pleaded the bird had been sent to him from the country, to kill and eat.

Sub-Inspector Smith - At first defendant said he got the bird from Kowloon City and then he said it had been sent down from the country.

His Worship - If it is a wild partridge it does not come under this ordinance. I don't think you can steal a wild partridge.

S. I. Smith - He is not charged.

MAN OF 7,000 YEARS AGO

"NEARLY COMPLETE" FIND IN SOUTH AMERICA

The fossil remains of a proto-Mongolian man who lived in South America from 6,000 to 7,000 years ago have been discovered by Dr. Francis Spillman, Professor of the Central University, at Alangasi, in Los Chillos valley.

Pieces of skull, a jawbone, ribs and leg bones make the remains a remarkable find, as they are almost complete.

Dr. Spillman thinks that the man lived in Ecuador during the ice age, being one of the country's original inhabitants. He is of the opinion that the discovery strengthens the theory that South America was populated by the yellow races of the Far East.

PAYMENT DEFERRED AT THE QUEEN'S

LONDON GARDEN TAKEN TO STUDIO

The task of transplanting an English garden to a California motion picture studio was found to have its problems when a botanical setting was constructed at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios for "Payment Deferred," which is now at the Queen's Theatre with Charles Laughton playing the same role in which he scored a tremendous success in both the London and New York stage versions of the piece.

Inasmuch as this garden serves as the locale for the mysterious disappearance of the rich nephew who is murdered by Laughton in the story, particular attention was given this set in the matter of authentic atmosphere and accuracy of detail. Phoney backdrops and artificial foliage were scorned in favour of the real thing. This necessitated employment of expert botanists, who superintended the importation from England of certain types of briars, thorn rose, heather and a form of salt grass, all of which were distinctly English and a common phenomenon of English gardens.

Realism Two Feet Deep.

When certain of the plants were found to wither under the brilliance of the California sun, the botanical experts recommended the importation of English soil, which order was forthwith carried out. Thus we have what is believed to be the first motion picture set which is authentically foreign, not only from a surface aspect but also two feet underground.

"Payment Deferred" is based upon the play by Jeffrey F. Dell and was first produced in London by Gilbert Miller, who later took the production to New York, where it attracted nation-wide attention. Charles Laughton plays the role of the middle-class bank clerk, who, driven to desperation by debts and losses on the stock market, essays what he conceives to be a "perfect crime." Through a surprising dramatic twist, the real crime remains undetected, but the bank clerk is subsequently arrested for a crime which he did not commit but of which he cannot prove his innocence.

Important roles in the film version are filled by Maureen O'Sullivan, Dorothy Peterson, Verree Teasdale and Ray Milland, under the direction of Lothar Mendes.

with stealing. Could you amend the charge to having it in his possession during the close season?

The Magistrate remanded the men in order to consider the case more fully.

Changing China

A quarterly non-political review of life and conditions in China.

"... Changing China is an interesting and useful quarterly. The articles which it contains have been written in the form of letters by men and women of various ranks of life who are living in the interior of China. They are not professional writers with any axe to grind but are describing what they have actually seen and experienced. The reader gets a picture or rather a series of pictures of life in Modern China, and at the same time a resume of the progress made in industrial development during the past quarter."

Asia Lands, Limited, has received the following report from their New York correspondents, Pierce, Fenn & Co. The market shows no outstanding danger signals yet but, using an expression, we think it would be advisable to trade pretty close to your breath. Wheat: The advance met with no opposition. Profit-taking was heavy but was readily absorbed. Inflation is still the paramount factor. Cotton: Demand has been broad. Shorts have covered on a reported general demand for goods. Some authorities feel that the market is now more two-sided. Silver: The tone is steady. Commission-houses and banks sold. The selling by the banks may have been on Eastern accounts. Offerings have been well absorbed.

PRES. ROOSEVELT'S MONEY POLICY

World Currency Dictator

LONDON VIEW OF THE POSITION

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, April 25.

President Roosevelt is being hailed as the Dollar Dictator. Does he desire to become the World Currency Dictator? The question finds some justification in the events of the past week. By the exercise of his authority the President restored the embargo on gold exports, and deliberately and definitely placed the United States off the Gold Standard. He gave several reasons for his action. They may be summarised as follows:

It will put the United States in the same economic position as other nations.

It will raise commodity prices.

It will allow the United States to compete with countries whose currency is depreciated.

It will enhance the possibility of the nations getting together on a common economic programme.

It will facilitate a general return to the Gold Standard, though probably on a different gold ratio, substantially below that at present prevailing.

These statements attributed to the President seem to contain some confusion of ideas. While suggesting what amounts to a currency war, the idea of economic agreement is put forward, two factors as incompatible as oil and water. So far the whole world is in a state of complete uncertainty as to the real actuating motive behind the decision. All it knows is that an immense blow has been delivered at the growing feeling of hope and confidence.

Chaotic Currencies.

The result is that the whole international monetary structure has been thrown into chaos. The dollar, with wide fluctuations, has depreciated in terms of sterling, and no one dares to prophesy where the readjustment of the two currencies will stop. The currencies of the principal countries remaining on the Gold Standard—the French franc, the Belgian belga, and the Dutch florin—have weakened substantially, and in the opinion of many it is only a matter of time for all the world to be "off gold."

A wild speculative movement in "equities" has begun in New York with nothing to back it but a depreciated dollar and hopes of in-

SIAMESE RICE

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

With reference to an article under the above heading in your issue of today, we would like to suggest that the prohibition of the importation of Rice into the Dutch East Indies for a period of four months, in order to protect their own industry, is the cause of the cheaper prices now ruling for that commodity. We hardly think that such an important Rice growing country as Burma will import Rice from Siam.

Yours faithfully,

PENTREATH & CO.

May 12.

flations on a grandiose scale. How far it will go or how long it will last no one can say. One thing, however, is certain. Unless something more substantial than the manufacture of paper credit makes itself apparent in the American industrial world, there is grave danger of a repetition of the critical days of six weeks ago.

What Next?

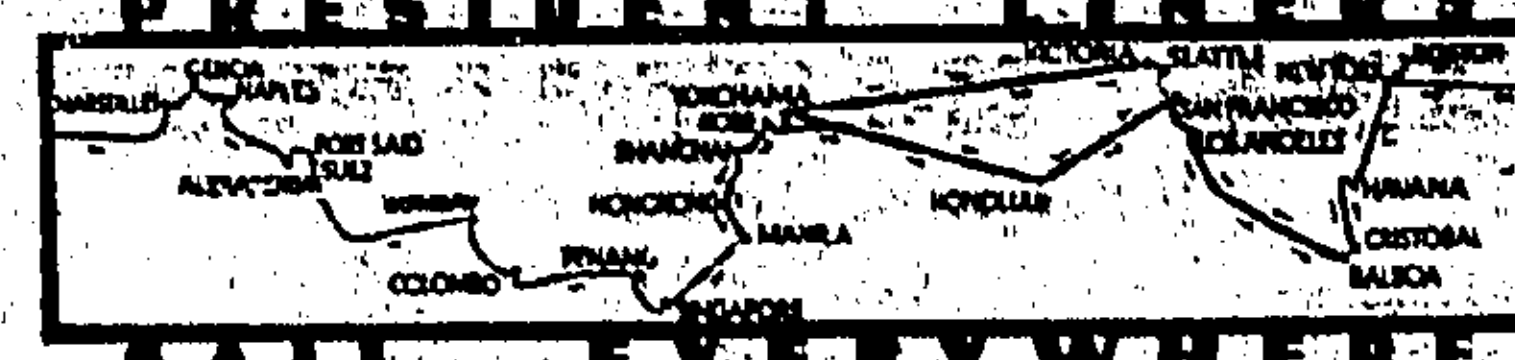

The question to which everyone is seeking to find an answer is:—What will America do next? She has abandoned the dollar to its fate. Proposals are to be placed before Congress giving the President automatic powers of devaluation. Should the legislation be passed he will be able, if he deems it wise, to reduce the gold content of the dollar and to print paper money up to at least 3,000,000,000 dollars.

It is an amazing position, for with her enormous hoard of gold, over $275,000,000, there has been no apparent reason why the United States should have deliberately abandoned the Gold Standard. Her trade balance is favourable, her foreign indebtedness comparatively small. The United States is, in fact, the world's largest creditor. A devalued or depreciated dollar will make it easier for her debtors to meet their liabilities, but this can hardly have been the motive.

Political Influences.

There is no question of the dollar being forced off gold. There has certainly been a flight from the dollar, but on nothing like the scale of the flight from the £ in 1931. Had there been the will to protect the currency, no doubt exists that the vast gold stock could have been used without danger and with success. With every deference to the statements attributed to the President, the real underlying motive would appear to have been political and not economic. While the President was engaged in allaying the banking panic he was left alone. But the Congressional inflationists have now become formidable, and threaten to force on the country measures which the President and his advisers regard as extremely dangerous. He has met them halfway, and the problem now is how much farther he will be forced along this very dangerous road.

One point should not be overlooked by those who are speculating rather wildly on a further fall in the dollar. Anything may happen, and it may conceivably suit America's book to see the dollar in line with the £. On the other hand, the gold position in the United States is such that at any moment an upward movement could be engineered with difficulty.
